TNR: MAY 2014 RETURNING WARRIOR WORKSHOPS

Leadership Focus Points

Chief of Navy Reserve:

In her May Focus on the Force column in TNR, CNR discusses the Navy Reserve Sailor of the Year, mobilizations, the critical days of summer and her trip to Boise. “Last month we visited NOSC Boise and participated in a retirement ceremony for Capt. Jami Mason and her family. Capt. Mason rose from E-1 to O-6 during her 37-year career and has had an impact on thousands of Sailors. We also attended NOSC Boise’s second annual “All Hands Dining-in.” Hosted by NOSC CO, LCDR Tyler Hamiter and his Chiefs’ Mess, this wonderful evening brought together Sailors of all rates and ranks to formally celebrate naval history and tradition and engendered incredible camaraderie and esprit de corps — especially when two mobilized Sailors joined us by video teleconference from Kandahar!”

FORCM:

FORCM discusses the Navy Reserve Sailor of the Year and safety in his May Focus on the Force column in TNR. “It is with great pride that I introduce to you the 2013 Navy Reserve Sailor of the Year, Naval Air Crewman 1st Class (NAC/AW) Paul Marticorena of Helicopter Sea Combat Squadron 3, Naval Air Station North Island, Calif. His overall contribution to the Force and consistent deckplate leadership with both Reserve and active-component Sailors were significant factors in his selection.

May is the start of a busy time: Selection Boards, Advancement Results, PFA, Annual Training, summer leave, and much more as we prepare for the end of the Fiscal Year. While this is often an exciting time, we must continue to be vigilant of safety and for being conscientious shipmates supporting each other in the unit, in the NOSC and in the community. I am always impressed by the dedicated and professional Sailors that I meet — Thank you for what you do and I look forward to seeing on a visit.”

“We know that a Reserve sailor is about 1/3 of the cost of an active duty sailor. Currently, we need every sailor we have.”

Vice Admiral Robin Braun, Chief of Navy Reserve, May 18, 2013
