

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What is the America's Army-Our Profession Education and Training Program?

It is a CY13 program designed to generate an inspirational and aspirational dialog for Soldiers and Civilians to reaffirm their understanding of themselves as Army professionals, to recommit to a culture of service, and to understand and serve in accordance with the Army Ethic and Army culture.

How will this program help shape the Army of 2020?

During the America's Army - Our Profession Education and Training Program, the Army will begin to institutionalize and operationalize the Army Profession concepts. This will be done by developing and integrating the Army Profession concepts into doctrine (ADP/ADRP 1), revision of PME and CES, training, tools and products. Additionally, the Army will operationalize the Army Profession concepts by training more than 240 Master Army Profession and Ethic Trainers (MAPETs) to serve as Army Profession key advisors in support of institutional/service school commandants and unit/organizational leaders. The Army will conduct senior leader engagements and provide a website featuring products and resources necessary for units and organizations to train and develop Soldiers and Army Civilians using Army Profession concepts. These efforts will ensure the Army of 2020 is not only leaner, more agile, adaptive, innovative, versatile and ready, but our Soldiers and Army Civilians are competent, committed, and of honorable character.

How can leaders help with this effort?

Include the Army Profession in command training/LD guidance and professional development sessions; Generate robust dialog at all levels; Leverage trained Army Profession and Ethic personnel (i.e., MAPETs); Use AP Concepts in iconic events, Soldier and NCO boards, and unit functions; Command emphasis on standards and discipline (unit NCOPD focus topic); Foster candor and transparency; coaching, teaching, mentoring, and counseling; and Use AP certification criteria ("3 Cs") in training and development assessments.

Will there be an opportunity for subject matter experts to train our unit/organization personnel?

During CY13 CAPE personnel will travel to Army installations throughout the world to provide subject matter expertise on the Army Profession. These senior leader engagements will be focused on ways to incorporate Army Profession concepts into unit/agency level professional development sessions. Additionally, CAPE will conduct (7) five day Master Army Profession and Ethic Trainer (MAPET) courses at the United States Military Academy at West Point. This course will provide leaders with the tools to train and lead Soldiers and Civilians in their organization and integrate Army Profession concepts and character development methods into their unit, school or center. The MAPET course is open to SFC, CPT, CW2 and above as well as Army Civilians.

Are Army Civilians included in America's Army - Our Profession Education and Training Program?

Yes, the Army Civilian Corps is a vital component of the Army Profession. Materials will be tailored to specifically address the importance of Army Civilians in today's Army and how they can aspire to be better professionals.

WHAT YOU CAN DO!

How can I get involved?

As a steward of our Army Profession, all members have a responsibility to read and understand the Army Profession materials. You can also participate in surveys/studies, forums, or professional development sessions, professional writing contests, dialog sessions with coworkers and subordinates and send us your feedback. Focus on inculcating the concepts of the Army Profession in your unit or organization. Visit the CAPE website at <http://CAPE.army.mil> for more information.

Read Army Doctrine Reference Publication (ADRP) 1, The Army Profession.

Army Doctrine Reference Publication (ADRP) 1 augments Chapter 2 of ADP 1, The Army. Its publication and release to the Army is scheduled for Spring 2013. An Initial Draft of ADRP 1 will be released at the 2012 AUSA Annual Meeting in October 2012. This publication defines and doctrinally describes the Army Profession and the Army Ethic. It expands the discussion on the Army Profession's dual nature as a military department and, more importantly, a military profession. It identifies the two mutually supportive communities of practice of the profession: the Profession of Arms and the Army Civilian Corps. It establishes the five essential characteristics that constitute the Army as a profession: military expertise, honorable service, trust, esprit de corps, and stewardship of the profession. It defines membership and certification of Army professionals in competence, character, and commitment.

AMERICA'S ARMY OUR PROFESSION

AMERICA'S ARMY - OUR PROFESSION EDUCATION AND TRAINING PROGRAM

Quick Facts:

- During Calendar Year 2013, the United States Army will launch an America's Army - Our Profession program to enhance the education and training of Army professionals. This program will generate an inspirational and aspirational dialog for Soldiers and Civilians to reaffirm their understanding of themselves as professionals, recommit to a culture of service, and serve in accordance with the Army Ethic and culture.
- There are four focused themes for the America's Army - Our Profession education and training program: Standards and Discipline; Army Customs, Courtesies and Traditions; Military Expertise - Certified Army Professionals; and Trust.
- Each of these themes will include education and training materials to assist leaders in executing this program. Materials include videos, mobile device applications, doctrine, pamphlets, brochures and curriculum. All materials will be available online at <http://cape.army.mil> for your use and/or local reproduction.
- During CY2013 CAPE will meet with unit and organization senior leaders. The senior leader engagements will support unit/agency level professional development sessions. CAPE will also conduct eight Master Army Profession and Ethic Trainer courses. The course will provide leaders with the tools to train and lead organizational personnel in integrating Army Profession concepts and character development programs into their unit, school or center. The course is open to SFC, CPT, CW2 and above as well as Army Civilians.

Foster continued commitment to the Army Profession, a noble and selfless calling founded on the bedrock of trust.

- CSA Marching Orders

Supporting Theme Focus:

- Standards and Discipline: Emphasize Standards and Discipline (e.g., personnel and property accountability, SOPs, uniform and appearance, drill and ceremony, inspections, command presence during maintenance, educate/train junior leaders) to reinforce understanding of Army standards and individual and unit discipline, and to recommit to professional excellence that is the hallmark of the Army Profession and its professionals.
- Army Customs, Courtesies, and Traditions: Emphasize Army customs, culture, courtesies, heraldry and traditions. Integrate Army Profession concepts into traditional Army events and ceremonies. Emphasize the significance of these key events to the Army as a profession and to the individual as a professional. Frame inductions, promotions, graduations, transfer of authorities/commands, and other iconic-like events to be more meaningful. Reinvigorate cohesion building events such as spur rides and dining-ins.
- Military Expertise - Certified Army Professionals: Emphasize the concepts of professional competence, character, and commitment. The Army as an institution and its leaders (stewards) certify each member of the profession through human development programs and processes. Stewards of the profession use coaching, counseling, and mentoring to bring meaning and relevance to these programs and processes. This is supported by unit/organizational leader presence and their candid and transparent communications at all levels.
- Trust: Sustain and develop trust among Army Professionals through consistent demonstration of competence, character, and commitment. Reinforce our "bedrock of trust" with the American People by contributing military expertise, with honorable service, stewardship of the Army Profession, and an indomitable winning spirit (esprit de corps).
