ADMINISTRATIVE INSTRUCTION

NUMBER 1400.03
OCT 15 2014

PERS

SUBJECT: Telework Program

References: See Enclosure 1

1. PURPOSE. This administrative instruction (AI), based on the authority and guidance of References (a) through (c):

a. Cancels Reference (d) and reissues herein to clarify the National Capital Region Medical Directorate (NCR MD) Telework Program.

b. Assigns responsibilities and prescribes procedures regarding the NCR MD Telework Program to conform with References (e) through (n).

2. APPLICABILITY

a. This AI applies to the NCR MD, Walter Reed National Military Medical Center (WRNMMC) to include the DiLorenzo Clinic and the Tri-Service Dental Clinic, Fort Belvoir Community Hospital to include the Dumfries and Fairfax Clinics, and the Joint Pathology Center. Hereafter, these facilities are collectively referred to as Joint Medical Treatment Facilities (MTFs) and Centers.

b. Service member eligibility is discretionary and determined by the relevant Joint MTF or Center supervisor, consistent with this AI and Component-specific guidance. Supervisors or directors should allow maximum flexibility for employees or Service members to telework to the extent that mission readiness or accomplishment is not compromised.

3. POLICY. It is NCR MD policy to:

a. Support telework where it sustains and enhances the mission and goals of the NCR MD. Telework is an important management flexibility tool that can have a positive impact on staff morale and productivity in addition to reducing stress, traffic, pollution, and absenteeism.

b. Not to create any artificial barriers inhibiting optimal participation. Employees who occupy positions suitable for telework, will be permitted to telework. However, participation in telework is voluntary and employees will not be made to telework if they choose not to.

c. Reinforce the principle that telework is a valid option for reasonable accommodation for those with disabilities and for staff who have temporary medical conditions that need to be accommodated.

d. Determine those occupations that do not meet the parameters of telework outlined in References (f) through (i) and more particularly those that are engaged in direct patient care and/or duties which are not portable. The occupations listed in Enclosure 4 are generally ineligible for telework within the NCR MD. However, when an employees' position is ineligible for telework, there may be circumstances or portions of employees' work (e.g., reading and analyzing documents, and preparing reports or other types of correspondence) when the employees in these positions may be considered for telework on a situational basis.

e. Comply with all provisions outlined in References (i) through (m) regarding safeguarding and protecting security and personally identifiable information (PII) as well as Government Furnished Equipment (GFE) and government property. Specifically, establish and implement appropriate administrative, technical and physical safeguards to ensure the security of records and equipment and to prevent compromise or misuse during storage, transfer or use, including working at authorized alternative worksites.

(1) Permit telework employees to access PII only on an encrypted GFE, requiring two-factor authentication for access and prohibit removing classified material (hard copy or electronic) from the official worksite. If classified telework is authorized, ensure it is performed at an approved alternate secure location.

(2) Prohibit the extraction of PII from DoD systems onto GFE used in teleworking unless approved by a manager and logged and erased in accordance with (IAW) References (k) through (o).

(3) Strictly prohibit the use of personal e-mail accounts for PII transmission; PII may only be e-mailed between Government e-mail accounts and must be encrypted and digitally signed.

4. RESPONSIBILITIES. See Enclosure 2.

5. PROCEDURES. See Enclosure 3.

6. RELEASABILITY. Cleared for public release. This AI is approved for public release and is available on the NCR MD Website at www.capmed.mil.

7. EFFECTIVE DATE. This AI:

- a. Is effective immediately.
- b. Will expire 10 years from the publication date if it hasn't been reissued or cancelled before this date in accordance with DoD Instruction 5025.01 (Reference (e)).

All telework agreements, regardless of the employee's emergency response status, should address:

(1) The employee's telework location (e.g., the employee's home or other approved alternative worksite such as a telework center, when appropriate).

(2) Telework requirements when the regular worksite is closed (e.g., emergency dismissal due to adverse weather conditions such as snow emergencies, floods, hurricanes, or any other type of emergency situation) or when OPM announces that Government offices are open with the option for unscheduled telework (e.g., severe weather conditions or other circumstances disrupt commuting and compromise employee safety).

(3) Instructions on whether classified (where applicable and authorized at a secure alternative location) and controlled unclassified information data is authorized for use at the telework location. List criteria for the proper encryption, storage, safeguarding, and return of such information and data. The DD Form 2946 shall also include Military Services specific guidance and criteria.

(4) That the employee may not be authorized to telework if the employee's performance does not comply with the terms of the telework agreement.

OCT 15 2014

ENCLOSURE 3PROCEDURES AND GUIDELINES FOR SUPERVISORS

1. POSITION ELIGIBILITY. Before determining whether an employee meets the telework criteria of this policy, the supervisor must carefully examine the nature of the employee's position as it relates to working off-site. Whether a position is suitable for the Telework Program depends on job content rather than job title, type of appointment, work schedule, or grade level. Positions suitable for telework are those involving tasks and work activities that are portable and do not require the employees' presence at the principal office, or the employee's use of the local area network (LAN).

a. Tasks and functions generally suited for telework include, but are not limited to:

- (1) Work that may be routinely performed outside the principal office.
- (2) Policy development.
- (3) Independent research and analysis (e.g., investigating, program analysis, policy analysis, and financial analysis).
- (4) Data processing.
- (5) Report writing.
- (6) Telephone-intensive tasks (teleworking employees are responsible for any resulting long distance charges).
- (7) Technology-oriented tasks that can be performed independently, without use of the LAN.
- (8) Work activities that are portable, measurable, and can be performed as effectively outside the office as inside the office.
- (9) Work activities that can be measured through either quality or timeliness of assignments or quantity of tasks completed or a combination of these factors.
- (10) Face-to-face contact with other employees and clients is limited, predictable, and can be adequately managed through telephone or e-mail communication without loss of service or productivity.
- (11) Work planned for telework days is not classified or sensitive.
- (12) The technology and equipment needed to perform the job off-site is available or can be adjusted for use on the days when the employee is in the primary office (e.g., use of the photocopier equipment).

(13) Access to necessary reference materials is available through photocopying or electronic transfer of documents and/or use of internet-accessible reference engines.

b. The occupations listed in Enclosure 4 of this AI are generally not eligible for telework since they meet one or more of the exclusionary criteria below. Exclusionary criteria include but are not limited to the following:

(1) Require daily face-to-face contact with the supervisor, colleagues, patients, clients, or the general public in order to provide effective customer service, which cannot otherwise be achieved by e-mail, telephone, or similar electronic means.

(2) Involve the maintenance, production, and manufacturing of sensitive materials and documents for which security concerns and/or equipment requirements must be met at the principal office.

(3) Require access to material or equipment which cannot be removed from the principal office.

(4) Require special facilities or equipment that NCR MD cannot provide because of practical, security, or financial concerns.

(5) Require daily access to classified or sensitive (PII) information.

(6) Involve trainee or entry-level tasks.

(7) Involve the protection of life and property and/or responses to emergencies (e.g., fire fighters, police, guards, etc.) or other mission-essential services.

(8) Require individual or identifiable patient medical data at the primary worksite in order to perform the duties of the position.

c. The following exceptions apply to the foregoing position ineligibility criteria:

(1) Sensitive/PII/Classified Material. The above ineligibility criteria for positions working with sensitive/PII and/or classified materials apply unless appropriate administrative, technical and physical safeguards are in place to ensure the security of records and equipment and to prevent compromise or misuse during storage, transfer or use, including working at authorized alternative worksites. If duties to be performed while teleworking require accessing PII, it will only be done on an encrypted GFE, requiring two-factor authentication for access. In no case will classified material (hard copy or electronic) be removed from the official worksite and if classified telework is authorized, it must be at an approved alternate secure location.

(2) Ineligible Occupations. As noted, the occupations listed in Enclosure 4 are ineligible for telework within the NCR MD. However, when an employees' position is ineligible for telework, there may be circumstances or portions of employees' work (e.g., reading and analyzing documents, and preparing reports or other types of correspondence) that may be considered for telework on a situational/ad hoc basis. Supervisors are responsible for making these determinations on a case-by-case basis and must ensure that all appropriate safeguards are in place to protect PII/sensitive/classified material if such are involved in the telework assignment.

2. MANAGEMENT ACCOUNTABILITY

a. It is essential that supervisors and managers become familiar and comply with all provisions and requirements of the telework policy, particularly those related to the security and protection of security, PII and GFE. Supervisors and/or managers may not allow employees to work at a telework site without fulfilling all appropriate administrative requirements detailed in this policy. Supervisors and managers will be held accountable for the proper administration of this policy.

b. Supervisors must use sound judgment about the individual's overall work performance and suitability prior to approving telework. While telework is a highly effective tool, it places additional responsibilities on the supervisor.

c. Supervisors and managers may not grant, authorize, nor allow the use of official time for representational activities or other union activities by any employee in a telework status.

d. Telework Denial and Termination. A telework request may be denied by the supervisor. A telework agreement may be terminated at the discretion of the supervisor or at the employee's request. Denial or termination of telework agreements should be based on business reasons (e.g., the telework agreement fails to meet the organization's needs or the employee's performance does not meet the prescribed standard). Supervisors may terminate a telework agreement when the employee fails to meet the conditions of telework.

e. Supervisors will ensure that when vacant positions are filled and/or new or revised telework agreements are established or reviewed, the appropriate telework eligibility codes are entered into the employee's personal data in the Defense Civilian Personnel Data Systems. The codes are at Enclosure 5 and 6 of this AI.

f. Will familiarize themselves with techniques for managing work while the staff is teleworking by accessing such websites as that from OPM at:
<https://leadership.opm.gov/search.aspx?k=telework>.

3. EMPLOYEE ELIGIBILITY. To be considered for a telework arrangement or to continue to telework, employees must meet the criteria in paragraphs a. through j. below. Employees who meet these criteria are not guaranteed an automatic right to telework. Telework is not an entitlement. These employees may be considered for telework as part of an evaluation process that takes into account all work-related factors. Telework eligibility criteria will be applied impartially and consistently without prohibited factors being considered. Final authority to grant telework rests solely with NCR MD management.

a. The employee's most recent summary performance rating of record must at least be at the "Fully Successful Value Added Performer" level; the supervisor will determine whether an employee without a rating of record is performing at an overall "Fully Successful" level.

b. The employee is not under a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP). If an employee's performance falls below the "Fully Successful" level in the opinion of the supervisor and/or if the employee is placed under a PIP during the course of a telework arrangement, their telework arrangement will be terminated and the employee will be required to return to the principal office.

c. The employee must have completed her/his probationary or trial period if such a condition is required for their appointment; if no probationary or trial period is applicable, the employee must have served at least one year of continuous service in his or her position.

d. The employee must provide a suitable telework space that is free of interruptions and provide adequate utilities to support the installation and maintenance of equipment and security measures to protect government material and property. NCR MD will provide the computer processing equipment.

e. The employee must have demonstrated a record of high dependability and the ability to handle responsibility without the need for close supervision.

f. The employee must have demonstrated the ability to prioritize work effectively and possess good time management and organizational skills.

g. The employee must have demonstrated a high level of integrity and honesty.

h. The employee must be covered by current and accurate performance standards.

i. The employee must agree to allow for no-notice site inspections by NCR MD officials when the employee's residence is certified as the telework site.

j. The employee must be accessible and responsive to NCR MD management during their telework scheduled hours of work.

4. EMPLOYEE INELIGIBILITY. Employees who meet any of the following criteria are ineligible for teleworking:

a. An employee who has received a disciplinary or adverse action in the preceding 12 months and/or an employee on telework who is the subject of misconduct or other administrative investigation or a pending disciplinary action. Such employees must return to the principal office pending resolution of the investigation, including a final decision on any proposed discipline. An employee against whom any disciplinary action is taken:

(1) Must immediately be terminated from their telework arrangement.

OCT 15 2014

- (2) May not request or be approved for telework for one calendar year after the discipline. The requirement may not be waived by the supervisor.
- b. The employee has time or attendance irregularities that were previously communicated to the employee within the 12-month period of time preceding entry into a telework arrangement.
 - c. The employee has been hired under the Pathways or other intern/trainee program and/or is serving on a temporary or intermittent appointment.
 - d. The employee is in a training or probationary status.
