NHI's Annual Magazine is Now Available

NHI is pleased to offer the fourth edition of Training in Action--a collection of articles that showcase real-world applications of NHI training and highlight the latest technologies, programs, and partnerships related to transportation workforce development.

The 2011 issue features examples of how NHI training can help State DOT's reduce their environmental footprint and use emerging technologies to inspect bridges. The article regarding NHI's partnerships will provide you with information about NHI's latest agreements with private transportation organizations to deliver NHI courses. The magazine highlights NHI's work abroad and how NHI courses have been applied to the roads and bridges of Kuwait and South Korea. Training in Action also provides updates on NHI's new Web site and how far the organization has come since its inception 40 years ago. The publication would not be complete without the recognition of NHI's exceptional instructors and administrative teams in the "Instructors of Excellence and Team Administrative Awards" article.
