Dear Sample,

The floodwaters may be long gone, but the memory of damage to your home and personal belongings may never go away. As a condition of your receipt of disaster assistance, FEMA purchased on your behalf a Group Flood Insurance Policy from the National Flood Insurance Program. It provided you important financial protection from the devastating effects of a flood. However, your group flood insurance coverage may have expired.

The cost of recovering from a flood can be overwhelming and next time, you will not be covered if you do not purchase a standard flood insurance policy. Imagine if your home flooded again. Just two inches of flood water could possibly cause thousands of dollars in property damage.

Without flood insurance, you may not be able to obtain some form of federal disaster assistance, or low-cost Small Business Administration disaster assistance loans to help repair or replace what a flood insurance policy would have covered. The cost to cover your losses comes out of your pocket, your savings, and your future if you do not have a flood insurance policy. With flood insurance, you will receive money to help replace and repair valuables.

Even a few inches of water in your home can damage drywall, flooring, furniture, and electrical systems, adding up to tens of thousands of dollars in damage. Without flood insurance, your investment in your home and your personal property could be at serious risk when the next flood occurs.

Now is the time to buy a standard flood insurance policy.

If your group policy has expired, to maintain coverage for your property you will need to purchase a standard flood insurance policy. To purchase flood insurance, call your insurance agent. If you don't have an agent, you can find one in your local area by calling 1-888-724-6785 or at FloodSmart.gov.

Sincerely,

David L. Miller

P.S. Remember: it takes 30 days for your new policy to take effect, so don't wait. Don't lose what you've worked so hard to rebuild.
