A MESSAGE FROM THE COMMANDER OF MARINE FORCES RESERVE AND MARINE FORCES NORTH

LT. GEN. STEVEN A. HUMMER

Marines...

I share the sentiment our Commandant stated in testimony before Congress – the Marine Corps provides an insurance policy to the American people. As an integral part of the total force, Marine Forces Reserve plays a key role in providing that insurance policy. We have been fully engaged on the global stage for more than a decade now, serving as the essential shock absorber for the active component, and 2012 was no different. Reservists from each of our major subordinate commands made a tremendous impact across a diverse spectrum of operations in support of combatant commander operational and theater security cooperation requirements and Service commitments.

To ensure the Corps is the most ready when the Nation is least ready, the Marine Reserve must remain part of the equation even as U.S. force levels in Afghanistan decrease and Reserve unit opportunities to train for long periods of time in a mobilized status decline. We must preserve our operational prowess that has been demonstrated over the previous decade. Since 2001, more than 80,000 sets of mobilization orders have been issued to more than 60,000 Marines to serve on active duty and 100 percent of our units have mobilized to support either OIF or OEF. These operations demonstrate my priority for maintaining a significant Reserve Force readiness posture for equipment and personnel.

Marine Forces Reserve will continue its support to combatant commander theater security exercises. This commitment provides clear training objectives for Marine Forces Reserve and the experience gained from operating in forward deployed locations enables our units to achieve their highest level of training. The preparation and experience also enables full integration of the Marine Corps Reserve into active component combat formations.

One of my top priorities during 2013 will be keeping faith with Marines while realigning the Force due to implementing the Corps-wide Force Structure Review (FSR), which will ultimately affect 147 of our previous 183 Reserve sites. The FSR re-postured and balanced Reserve capabilities to better enable and integrate the total force. For the Marine Corps Reserve, management of unit manpower throughout the execution of the alignment involves the need to protect overall end strength of Reserves and expeditiously dismantling and rebuilding unit-specific capabilities. To ease FSR implementation, we established Personnel Transition Teams (PTTs) to streamline the process for Marines to shift between occupational specialties and help with qualified re-enlistments to ensure Marine Forces Reserve maintains the best, most qualified and most ready Force. The PTTs epitomize our commitment to keeping faith with our Marines.

I continue to be humbled on a daily basis in my interactions with our magnificent Reservists. Like their active-duty brothers and sisters, they sacrifice so much of their time -- and so much of themselves -- to protect and serve this great Nation. The way they balance their family responsibilities, civilian lives, and occupations -- and still stay Marine -- continues to amaze me. They do it with humility, without fanfare, and with a sense of pride and dedication that is consistent with the great sacrifices of Marines of every generation. Their unparalleled patriotism, professionalism, and competence guarantees Marine Forces Reserve will remain a critical part of the total force.

A MESSAGE FROM THE SERGEANT MAJOR OF MARINE FORCES RESERVE AND MARINE FORCES NORTH

SGT. MAJ. JAMES E. BOOKER

FORCE

Marines...

The Commander and I have watched Marine Forces Reserve continue to be an integral part of the total force for more than a year together now. MFR's reputation as a ready, relevant and capable complement to the active-duty Marine Corps has only grown more noteworthy in that short time, and that is because of you. Your ability to accomplish what our country asks while juggling Marine and civilian schedules in many cases is a testament to our commitment and desire to selflessly serve. That dedication is what makes Marine Forces Reserve a unique example of what makes our Corps one of the most respected military organizations in the modern world. For us all, this is not just a job.

With that said, we have some challenges ahead of us – a tightened budget, maintaining our readiness as we reduce our numbers and responsibly re-shaping our Force, among other things. We'll still accomplish our mission because that is what Marines do.

As the Commandant testified before congress so will the Sergeant Major of the Marine Corps. He understands the importance of a healthy, expeditionary Reserve with Marines who are trained and mentally prepared to deploy quickly. As long as you wear the uniform, you stand with the rest of us in line to deploy. Be ready.

To support the Commandant and Commander, Marine Forces Reserve, the enlisted Marines need to continue to attend resident professional military education academies.

The first-hand knowledge gained from attending PME and MOS schools will ensure that when the commanding officer gives the order to move out in times of crisis we are prepared to move. Large unit deployments are drawing down, but we will continue to support forward-deploying units with detachments and individuals who possess critical, specific skill sets. We can't learn as we go when it's time to move. Actively seek self-improvement now.

General Hummer is dedicated to executing the Commandant's directed force structure review in a methodical manner – maintaining the best, most qualified and most ready Force. Retraining Marines to support new or different billet requirements will be the key to supporting the Commander's intent and ensuring we have a ready, responsive Force. Sergeants and below can be retrained at no cost to the units. That means a new MOS if the Marine chooses that option. However, many staff NCOs will need to affiliate with units that need the MOS skills and experience they already possess. There are many options to navigate these rough seas and help is available. The MFR G-3 has many resources to help, and they will. Those units and Marines that have communicated with them have come out ahead. Don't delay contacting them.

I am proud to be your Sergeant Major, Marines, and proud of what you continue to accomplish. I'm looking forward to seeing what you achieve in the future.

United States MARINE CORPS FORCES NORTH

History

MARFORNORTH is the Marine Corps' service component to U.S. Northern Command. USNORTHCOM was established Oct. 1, 2002, in response to the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, 2001. Its mission is to conduct homeland defense, civil support and security cooperation to defend the United States and its interests.

LANCE CPL. SCOTT WHITING

Cpl. Zachary Wiener, a combat engineer with 8th Engineer Support Battalion, 2nd Marine Logistics Group uses a chainsaw to cut through wood in order to move it out of the way in Breezy Point, N.Y., Nov. 8 after Hurricane Sandy. Marines moved debris out of walkways between houses, giving residents an easier time getting to their homes.

Mission

MARFORNORTH executes anti-terrorism and force-protection responsibilities in order to protect Marines, DOD civilian employees, DOD contractors, and families. They support USNORTHCOM to provide defense support to civil authorities and conduct homeland-defense operations. MARFORNORTH also plans for the use of USMC forces and advises USNORTHCOM and other federal, state and local agencies on the proper employment of Marines.

9 The number of exercises MARFORNORTH supported in 2012.

Execution

MARFORNORTH executes its mission in three ways:

1 | MISSION ASSURANCE

- Mission assurance encompasses all aspects of force-protection and anti-terrorism activities conducted to ensure mission accomplishment.

2 | THEATER SECURITY COOPERATION

- Theater security cooperation includes participation in train-the-trainer initiatives and subject-matter-expert exchanges with regional partner nations to enhance regional security for all.

3 | CIVIL SUPPORT

- Civil support consists of a wide variety of activities from domestic, disaster-relief operations that occur during both natural and man-made disasters to counter-drug operations and managing the consequences of a terrorist event employing a weapon of mass destruction.

Critical Manpower

Marine Forces Reserve provides critical manpower to MARFORNORTH in the form of Individual Mobilization Augmentees who serve as Emergency Preparedness Liaison Officers (EPLOs) between MARFORNORTH and civilian agencies during emergency response efforts. These Marines are field-grade Reserve officers and are aligned to each of the 10 FEMA regions.

Emergency Preparedness Liaison Officer's Four Functions:

1 | SITUATIONAL AWARENESS

- EPLOs provide situational awareness for the commander of MARFORNORTH.

2 | PROPER INVESTMENTS

- EPLOs ensure Marine Corps assets are properly invested in the best interest of combatant commands and the Marine Corps.

3 | ADVISING

- EPLOs advise on Marine Corps capabilities and employment considerations.

4 | PROVIDE ASSISTANCE

- EPLOs provide civil support assistance to "attached" USMC operating force commanders and staff.

22

The number of EPLOs activated to support Hurricane Sandy relief operations.

Area of responsibility

MARFORNORTH has no permanently assigned forces, therefore, operating forces (Reserve or active duty) are "attached" to the command to carry out missions within USNORTHCOM's area of responsibility.

USNORTHCOM AOR includes...

- Continental U.S.
- Alaska
- Canada
- Mexico
- Bermuda
- The Turks & Caicos
- Saint-Pierre & Miquelon
- Straits of Florida
- Gulf of Mexico
- The Caribbean
 - Bahamas

WWI– Number of Reserve Marines on active duty increased from 35 to 6,440.

1918– Women allowed to serve in Reserves.

1925– Aviation units added.

WWII– 70 percent of Marines who served were Reserve Marines; 44 of 82 Medal of Honor recipients were Reserve Marines.

Korean War– 130,000 Reserve Marines served on active duty.

1962– Marine Corps Reserve administratively restructured to include 4th Marine Division, 4th Marine Aircraft Wing team, and Force Troops.

1977– 4th Marine Division relocates headquarters from Marine Corps Base Camp Pendleton, Calif., to New Orleans.

Persian Gulf War – 15 percent of all Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm Marines were in the Reserves.

CPL. MICHAEL ITO

Sgt. Maj. Eric Kuhns, sergeant major for Headquarters Battalion, Marine Forces Reserve, leads MARFORRES Marines through the streets of New Orleans during the Louisiana bicentennial military parade Nov. 10.

1992– Marine Reserve Force was activated and became the largest command in the Marine Corps. Two years later, it was re-designated as Marine Forces Reserve.

2001– More than 80,000 Reserve Marines were called to active duty after September 11, 2001. Reserve Marines have since served all around the globe from Southwest Asia to Afghanistan, Africa and many other locations. Reserve Marine units and active-duty units operated shoulder-to-shoulder in Operations Iraqi Freedom and Enduring Freedom.

Mission

The mission of Marine Forces Reserve is to augment and reinforce active Marine forces in time of war, national emergency or contingency operations, provide personnel and operational tempo relief for the active forces in peacetime, and provide service to the community. MARFORRES will be trained and educated to the highest levels, and provide rapid response when called upon. MARFORRES will be ever-ready to alleviate the intense personnel and operational tempo of active forces in peacetime.

Value to the Corps

- MARFORRES provides options to active component leaders and Combatant Commanders from support of disaster relief to providing strategic depth through sustained augmentation for major contingency operations.
- More than 80,000 Reservists have been activated or mobilized since Sept. 11, 2001. This operational tempo has built a momentum among our war fighters and a depth of experience throughout our ranks that is unprecedented in generations of Marine Corps Reservists.
- MARFORRES continued engagement in theater security cooperation missions is a key enabler for the active component's focus on overseas contingency operations as Marine Forces Reserve participates in more than 20 large-scale theater security cooperation exercises annually.

Value to the community

- Marine Forces Reserve's 181 locations across the U.S. and Puerto Rico allow the Marines a unique opportunity to connect with the American public on a daily basis. Since its inception in 1947, our Toys for Tots program has distributed 400,000,000+ toys to families.

In 2012, we ...

- led Marine Week Cleveland and supported Fleet Week New York
- supported 960 community events like airshows, state fairs, local festivals, parades with vehicle and equipment displays, band performances, community award and color guard, presentations, etc.
- provided ceremonial support for 16,067 Marine funerals and helped 367 Marine families with casualty assistance

"Although reshaping the Marine Corps from 202,100 Marines to a force of approximately 182,100 Marines entails some risk to our ability to simultaneously respond to multiple large contingencies, it is manageable. We intend to leverage the diverse depth and range of our Reserve component both to mitigate risk and maximize opportunities where available."

Mission Promote the well-being of Reserve service members and their families by connecting them with resources throughout the deployment cycle. Through Yellow Ribbon events held across the country, service members and those who support them have access to programs, services, resources and referrals to minimize stress and maximize resiliency during all phases of deployments.

Events in the program take place at key stages in the deployment cycle such as:

- Phase 1: Pre-deployment
- Phase 2: During deployment (just for families)
- Phase 3: Demobilization
- Phase 4: Post Deployment (30, 60 and 90 days)

These programs prepare Reserve members and their families for all phases of deployment. Commanders and leaders play a critical role in assuring that Reserve members and their families attend YRRP events where they can access information on health care, education/training opportunities, financial and legal benefits.

PERSONNEL TRANSITION TEAM

FAITH

Mission The Personnel Transition Team aims to smooth over transitions for Marines affected by the Force Structure Review, a restructuring and modernization effort which impacts 147 of 181 Marine Forces Reserve sites. The team consists of a cadre of manpower experts who travel to affected sites with the goal of keeping faith with Marines and maintaining personnel requirements.

For more information...

Call David Roberts, Marine Forces Reserve Force Recruiting Manager

 (504) 697-7193

 DAVID.S.ROBERTS@USMC.MIL

Options for affected Marines

1. Marines can request a lateral move to a new military occupational specialty if there is no position for their original MOS or rank at a unit within a reasonable commute.
2. Marines can remain affiliated with a different Selected Marine Corps Reserve unit that has an opening for their MOS and rank.
3. Marines can affiliate with an Individual Mobilization Augmentee detachment or the Active Reserve Program.
4. Non-contractually obligated Marines can request to transfer to the Individual Ready Reserve.
5. Marines can simply do nothing, remaining at the unit until their mandatory drill stop date. Marines are, however, encouraged to take another route because once the unit is mostly transformed, they won't be able to participate in unit training because they're no longer MOS qualified.
6. Request an inter-service transfer to the active-duty component of another military service.

WHAT'S A MUSTER?

Marines in the Individual Ready Reserve are required to attend an annual muster each year. A muster is an administrative formation conducted to assess the strategic mobilization capability of the IRR.

They allow IRR Marines face to face time with Marines from the Marine Corps Individual Reserve Support Activity who are there to introduce opportunities and answer questions.

Marines who attend are reconnected with the Corps and reminded of their obligations of service.

For more information... (800) 255-5082

THINGS YOU MAY NOT KNOW...

- Marines collect $207.50 for attending
- Marines receive briefs on topics such as suicide prevention, Department of Veterans Affairs medical matters, psychological health and Selected Marine Corps Reserve and Active Reserve Opportunities.
- Marines also have the opportunity to update their contact information and resolve any health or administrative issues they may have.

INDIVIDUAL READY RESERVE

IRR Marines have finished their active duty or SMCR obligations, however they are still in the Marine Corps on an inactive status and called upon when needed.

SGT. ERIC S. HAMILTON

BILLET: Yellow Ribbon Program coordinator at MARFORRES and infantry rifleman

LOCATION: New Orleans, La.

TIME IN SERVICE: 10 years

PROMOTIONS: Promotions in the IRR are very competitive, especially for staff noncommissioned officers.

WEARING A UNIFORM: I don't have to wear a Marine Corps uniform at all anymore. I just got off active duty in September 2012.

CORPS REQUIREMENTS: I have the option to drill with any unit, if it is available. I have to attend an annual muster and stay within standards.

SELECTED MARINE CORPS RESERVE

SMCR Marines drill one weekend a month with an additional two weeks of annual training a year.

STAFF SGT. JOEL CHAVERRI

BILLET: Public affairs chief, Marine Aircraft Group 41, 4th Marine Aircraft Wing

LOCATION: Fort Worth, Texas

TIME IN SERVICE: 10 years

REASON FOR JOINING: It's about brotherhood and the feeling I get when I put on the uniform.

PROMOTIONS: If you put in your time and do your best, you'll get recognized.

WEARING A UNIFORM: Reservists drill one weekend a month and two weeks in the summer.

CORPS REQUIREMENTS: We have to maintain physical fitness standards, meet training goals, conduct inspections, maintain uniforms, go to the rifle range and everything else that entails being a Marine.

ACTIVE RESERVE

AR Marines are activated Reservists. They work just as active-duty Marines do, seven days a week.

1ST LT. JOHN BARTUCCO

BILLET: Adjutant for Force Headquarters Group, MARFORRES

LOCATION: New Orleans, La.

TIME IN SERVICE: 3 years

REASON FOR JOINING: I came off active duty and was not prepared to take the uniform off, and I wanted to offer more to the Corps.

PROMOTIONS: Promotions in the AR program are a little slower than active duty and are "top heavy."

WEARING A UNIFORM: I wear it on a daily basis as if I was on active duty.

CORPS REQUIREMENTS: This is a full-time job and I come in Monday through Friday just like active-duty Marines.

Employment ASSISTANCE

You've spent years upholding the high standards of the United States Marine Corps. They say once you're a Marine, you're always a Marine; but that doesn't mean you don't still need to work. There are organizations and tools available to help you get back out there, make a good living, and continue to serve our great nation.

HIRING OUR HEROES

- Hiring Our Heroes was launched in March 2011 as a nationwide initiative to help veterans and military spouses find meaningful employment.
- Working with the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's network of 1,600 state and local chambers and other strategic partners from the public, private, and non-profit sectors, the goal is to create a movement across America in hundreds of communities where veterans and military families return every day.
- Hiring our Heroes has launched the Hiring 500,000 Heroes campaign to engage the business community in committing to hire half a million veterans and military spouses by the end of 2014.

JOB FAIRS

- Hiring our Heroes has hosted more than 400 hiring fairs in all 50 states, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia. Their events are open to veteran job seekers, Reserve members, active duty and military spouses. More than 14,000 veterans and military spouses have obtained jobs.
- Visit www.uschamber.com/hiringourheroes for more information on job fairs

BREAKDOWN

- The Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve is a Department of Defense agency established to promote cooperation and understanding between Reserve service members and their civilian employers and to assist in the resolution of conflicts arising from an employee's military commitment.
- ESGR will advocate relevant initiatives, recognize outstanding support, increase awareness of applicable laws and resolve conflict between employers and service members. Paramount to ESGR's mission is encouraging employment of Reservists who bring integrity, global perspective and proven leadership to the civilian workforce.
- As part of outreach efforts, ESGR offers employer programs such as Bosslifts, employer briefings and job fairs in your local area.
