History

- Emergency management officials from Maine, Rhode Island, Quebec, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, FEMA and Emergency Planning Canada established themselves as the informal International Emergency Management Group in September,1987.
- The Conference of New England Governors and Eastern Canadian Premiers (NEG/ECP) on June 1998 passed Resolution 23-5, endorsing the adoption of an emergency management compact.
- The August 2002 Resolution 27-3 and the September 2003 Resolution 28-2 of the Conference of NEG/ECP both reaffirmed support for IEMG.
- On January 4, 2007, Senate Joint Resolution 13 was passed by the US Congress consenting to the IEMAMOU.
- December 26 2007, then President George W. Bush signed into law Senate Joint Resolution 13.

Party Jurisdiction Responsibilities

- Each province and state has three responsibilities:
 - 1. To formulate procedural plans and programs for inter-jurisdictional cooperation.
 - 2. If requesting assistance, a party jurisdiction's authorized representative may request assistance from another party jurisdiction.
 - 3. There shall be frequent consultation among party jurisdiction officials known as the IEMG and other appropriate representatives from the party jurisdictions. There is to be a free exchange of information, plans and resource records relating to emergency capabilities, as long as these are authorized by our respective laws.

Business Processes

- IEMG meets twice annually
 - Spring in Canadian Provinces
 - Fall in US States
- Exercises are conducted every 3rd meeting alternating between Canada & New England
- Participation includes EM partners and Federal agency representatives.
- Report annually to New England Governors and Eastern Canadian Premiers

Operational Response Approach

- Pre-event planning is coordinated between Directors and Operations Managers ie. Tropical storm events
- Situational Awareness reports distributed among member jurisdictions during emergency response.
- Mutual Aid response approach is modeled after the US Emergency Management Assistance Compact (EMAC) and is similar to the Canadian Emergency Management Mutual Aid (EMMA) agreement.

Past Operations/Exercises

- Lac Magentic derailment, July 2013
- Plaster Rock derailment, Jan 2014
- Multi-jurisdiction/cross border Exercises

Eastern Canadian / New England Hazardous Materials Interoperability and Economic Analysis

Transport 7 Canada (

Introduction

- Foundation and linked work
 - Risk Assessments (2009-2011)
 - Tactical Level Haz Mat Analysis (Canada) 2009-2012
 - Support Council of Atlantic Premiers, June 2012
 - IEMG support, September 2012
 - Governance study (Nova Scotia) 2014
 - Supply Chain Disruption N.B. 2014
- IEMG leadership, operationalization of the Compact (IEMAC)

Current State

- Provincial Haz Mat capabilities non-standardized
- Regional response agreements i.e. N.B.
- Resources usually locally based i.e. Municipalities
- Informal operational assistance arrangements (Provincial/US)
- Various funding arrangements
- Little fixed site reporting / placarding / fee structure
- Little tracking of materials transported
- Post incident fines and recovery cost claims
- Urgency of stakeholders to refine response capability

Economic Impacts of Event

- Direct Impacts
- Indirect impacts of the event (Long Term)
 - Loss of economic activity
 - Loss of potential production
 - Increased costs of production
 - Loss of expected income

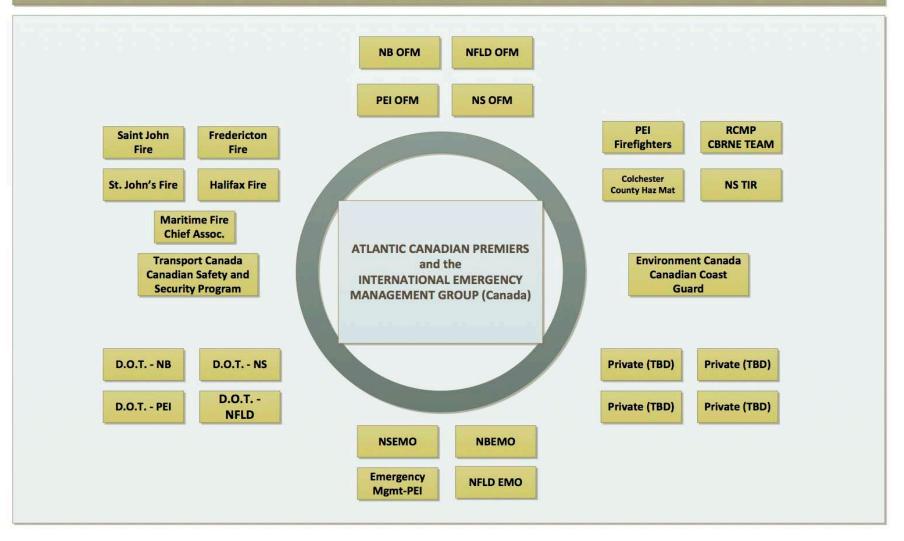

Preliminary Findings

- Urgency and motivation of stakeholders
- Non-standardized approach province to province
- Use of NFPA 472 Canada and US is a strength
- Existing Fixed Site Proactive reporting and funding in the US Context (Tier II Reporting)
- Need for resource mapping and resource typing

Future Opportunities

- International Emergency Management Assistance Compact (IEMAC) & IEMG medium for further support
- High level engagement Maine, NB and Vermont as key border jurisdictions
- Joint training tactical and strategic levels i.e. A-Teams
- Assistance in resource / response coordination to civil transportation emergencies by Provincial & State EM offices
