1. Purpose. Establishes policies and assigns responsibilities for the management and control of DON forms and information requirements (reports) and implements references (a) through (f). This instruction has been substantially revised and should be reviewed in its entirety.

2. Cancellation. SECNAVINST 5213.10D and SECNAVINST 5214.2B.

3. Applicability and Scope. This directive applies to the Offices of the Secretary of the Navy (SECNAV), The Chief of Naval Operations (CNO), the Commandant of the Marine Corps (CMC), and all Navy and Marine Corps activities, installations, and commands.

4. Definitions. Definitions used in this instruction are in enclosure (1).

5. Background

a. Information is vital to the success of any organization and provides the basis for management decisions. Forms and information collections are important methods for collecting and providing information to decision makers. As conditions or needs change, forms management and information requirements (reports) management must provide for improvement and control of forms, information collections, and the associated processes and systems.

b. Effective management requires organized and consistent efforts to improve the quality and economy of information collection. Information collections must only collect information that is actually needed, when it is needed, and in the most efficient format. Further, information collections must ensure maximum effectiveness at the lowest possible cost and with the minimum time burden on personnel and systems.

c. When managing an information requirement, careful attention must be given to the type of information collection involved. Very different procedures are required for public collections, interagency collections, and collections internal to the DON. In particular, collections from the public require approval, via Washington Headquarters Services, Directorate for Information Operations and Reports (WHS/DIOR), from the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). Procedures for each of these cases will be documented in a SECNAV manual.

d. A significant and rapidly increasing portion of the DON's forms and information collections are created, used, and/or stored electronically. This provides an excellent opportunity to expedite workflow processes and reduce storage space, mailing costs, and collection time. Web based forms, web services, and authoritative databases also provide excellent opportunities to improve forms and collections. The same emphasis on report quality and economy applied to paper based reporting systems applies to electronic systems.

6. Objectives. The overall objective of the DON Forms Management Program and the Information Requirements (Reports) Management Program is to ensure that needed information is provided to DON officials at the right time, in the best format, and at the lowest possible cost. Specific objectives are to:

a. Ensure that all forms and information collections satisfy a valid need and are necessary for efficient and economical operation of the Department of the Navy.

b. Minimize the cost of using forms and information collections by developing forms and collections that are easy to fill-in, read, transmit, process, and retrieve.

31 Dec 2005

c. Increase the usefulness of information on forms and information collections through proper design and clear instructions.

d. Promote standardization and consolidation of forms and information collections.

e. Promote the use of technology to facilitate the creation, distribution, and use of electronic formats for forms and information collections. Utilize web-based, electronically fillable formats, web services, and authoritative data.

f. Promote the use of common definitions of information contained in forms and information collections.

7. Policy. It is the policy of the Department of the Navy that:

a. All DON commands shall provide for continuing analysis, review and control of all their forms and information requirements to ensure that they are effective, efficient, necessary, and economical in serving their intended purpose. DON implementing and procedural guidance regarding the DON Forms Program and the DON Information Requirements (Reports) Program is contained in SECNAV Manuals M-5213.1 and M-5214.1.

b. In order to minimize and control the burden associated with data collection, forms and information collections shall only request information essential to mission accomplishment.

c. Information requirements shall be challenged if considered unnecessary or redundant of existing reports.

d. Forms and information collections shall be standardized to the maximum extent practicable.

e. Forms and information collections shall not be redundant with forms and information collections of higher authority. Duplicative forms and reports and those from lower command levels shall be consolidated into higher level forms and reports, commensurate with command precedence.

f. When a DON command requires a form they shall use, in order of precedence, GSA Standard or Optional forms, then DD forms, and finally existing DON forms. The last option is to create a new DON form. This option requires approval and assignment of a form number from the Service Forms Manager.

g. The authorization of an information requirement shall require the assignment of a report control symbol or the citing of the authority that exempts the report from requiring a symbol.

h. Information requirements shall not be initially authorized for longer than three years from the date of the implementing document.

i. Fleet commanders and commanding generals of the Fleet Marine Forces shall submit comments on information requirements imposed on the operating forces through their Chain of Command to the CNO or CMC as applicable.

j. At the discretion of the appropriate reviewing authority, no new information requirements shall be initiated by DON organizational components without cancellation of another requirement of at least equal labor intensity.

k. All information collections shall include an electronic version unless it is not practicable to do so in order to promote greater efficiency and accessibility.

l. Forms that solicit personal information directly from an individual shall contain a Privacy Act Statement that appraises the individual of the authority that authorizes collection, the purpose of the collection, who shall routinely have access to the information, and whether disclosure is voluntary or mandatory. When filled in, the form shall be marked FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY.

m. Forms and information collections that solicit personal information shall be cleared through CNO (DNS-36) to ensure that a Privacy Act system of records notice exists that permits such collection.

n. Forms and information collections that may affect employees' conditions of employment shall be cleared through the DON Labor Relations Program Office, Office of Civilian Human Resources to ensure compliance with Federal Labor Relations Laws.
