

Lead Safety

Program Summary:

Supervisors are responsible for the health of employees exposed to lead. Industrial Hygiene will determine the employees' exposure. An exposure greater than, or equal to, the 'action level' must receive initial and annual training.

Employees must know how they are exposed to lead, the signs of exposure and how to protect themselves.

Training Requirements:

Per 29 CFR 1910.11025, employees must receive training on lead hazards before they are exposed and annually.
