Parking Tips

The "Dos and Don'ts" of parking on UNT campus

Do

have your questions answered by the Transportation Services staff. Other sources may not be up to date.

Do

know all of the parking regulations, available at transportation.unt.edu. This is your responsibility if you park on campus.

Do

observe the signs at the entrance of each parking lot indicating the permit required to park in that lot. Match the color of your permit to the color on the sign and park within the lines to avoid an improper parking citation.

Don't

purchase a permit from anyone except Transportation Services. Permits purchased elsewhere are invalid and may be stolen, leading to the impoundment of your vehicle.

Don't

trade or lend your parking permit to your friends. If a vehicle displaying your permit receives a citation, that citation is your responsibility.

Make sure to pay any parking citations you receive. Vehicles may be impounded for unpaid citations, and holds may be placed on your student account that prevent you from receiving transcripts.

Make sure your visitors purchase one-day Visitor Permits from Transportation Services so they do not receive any citations. Visitors are also welcome to use the Union Circle Garage or parking meters on campus.
