Currently, Lea Young serves as an adjunct English 1313 instructor at the University of North Texas at Dallas. Previously, she taught English 1313 courses as well as Developmental Writing/Reading courses. She also serves as an adjunct Developmental Writing and Reading Instructor and English 1301 Instructor at Eastfield College as well as at Collin College. She has also taught ESOL at Brookhaven College, Mountain View College, and the University of Texas at Arlington to students wanting to improve their English for jobs or college studies. Before this, she taught ESL to high school students and was the Leadership class sponsor as well as the Lab Manager, where she managed all of the technology resources for the ESL department. In addition, she was a full time instructor, co-leader of the twice a semester institute wide writing exam, and committee member at Texas A&M University's English Language Institute, where she taught ESL to international students in an Intensive English Program. These students came to America to improve their English in order to gain admission to American universities for undergraduate and graduate degrees. She taught in this position for 2 ½ years. Her first job was teaching English Language Arts to 4th, 5th, 9th, and 10th graders and being a librarian; after which, she transitioned to teaching adults in Developmental Writing.
