BUMEDINST 6110.13A states that BUMED, through the Surgeon General, is the Chief of Naval Operation's (CNO) principal advisor on health service programs within the DON, and is the subject matter expert on the DON's Health Promotion Program.

Navy Medical Departments will serve as a community-based resource in support of health promotion programs. This application will be used to collect data to provide measures of effectiveness that will be in accordance with provider enterprise/strategic plan/whole goals and will use continuous process improvement tools (e.g., Lean Six Sigma) and administer health promotion and wellness awards/recognition programs.

g. Summary of DoD information system or electronic collection. Answers to these questions should be consistent with security guidelines for release of information to the public.

(1) Describe the purpose of this DoD information system or electronic collection and briefly describe the types of personal information about individuals collected in the system.

HPWD is a web based tool used to promote health and wellness among service members and DoD personnel. The dashboard consists of three primary products. The first of these is the Blue H product. This is used to assess the eligibility for the Surgeon General's Blue H award for Navy and Marine Corps facilities. The second product is m-Neat. This system is a portal that allows Naval and Marine Corps facilities to evaluate the health level of the products being offered for consumption at a particular location. The third product is the Crews into Shape product. This is used once a year to track a team's progress in the DoD's annual fitness and healthy eating promotion event.

Types of personally identifiable information (PII) collected by the system includes: name, personal email address, employment information (office email address, work phone number), military records (rank, location/facility information), personal email address and phone number.

(2) Briefly describe the privacy risks associated with the PII collected and how these risks are addressed to safeguard privacy.

Where as all systems are at risk and vulnerable to unauthorized access or intrusions such as hacking, the HPWD data is processed on an accredited network in the Navy Medicine domain in accordance to DoD requirements and authorized by the Navy Operational Designated Approving Authority (ODAA)."

The risk that HPWD data could be compromised have been evaluated and determined to acceptable because the system has been properly secured with the appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards listed in the PIA.

The HPWD user risk concern is considered acceptable because all users are required to initially complete and annually re-take DoD approved training for Cyber Awareness, Privacy Act and HIPAA that addresses privacy issues, system uses and information management.
