

Steve Lewis

Steve Lewis, Bird Biologist

Job Duties: I coordinate the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's nongame bird conservation program in the Upper Midwest. I provide expertise on the monitoring, management, and conservation of colonial waterbird species, including Double-crested Cormorants, American White Pelicans, herons, egrets, gulls, and terns. I also address issues related to urban wildlife and coordinate a small grants program.

Midwest Region

Area(s) of Expertise: Colonial waterbird monitoring and management, urban bird conservation, USFWS small grants program.

Relevant Websites:

Conservation of Midwest Birds (<http://www.fws.gov/midwest/midwestbird>)

Upper Mississippi Valley/Great Lakes Waterbird Conservation Plan (<http://www.waterbirdconservation.org/UMVGL.html>)

Double-crested Cormorant Management (<http://www.fws.gov/midwest/midwestbird/cormorant.html>)

Contact Information:

Email: steve_j_lewis@fws.gov

Phone: 612-713 5473