Active duty military service members, veterans, families and volunteers participated in the 2014 Tripler Fisher House 8K Hero & Remembrance Run, Walk or Roll held Sept. 6 on Ford Island, Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam.

The event honored fallen service members who lost their lives in combat, training or exercises since the Sept. 11, 2001 attacks. The run included boots, with attached photo identification, for each of more than 7,000 fallen service members.

The boots lined both sides of the road around the Ford Island historic runway as well as the Adm. Clarey Bridge (Ford Island Bridge).

U.S. Coast Guard Rear Adm. James Rendon, director, Joint Interagency Task Force West, offered his words of support and appreciation as a guest speaker. The Marine Forces Pacific Band provided musical support and performed "Taps," and the U.S. Air Force rifle detail presented a gun salute prior to the run.

"It's all volunteers. It is not a funded event," said Theresa Johnson, a former Tripler Fisher House manager and military spouse.

"These boots came from all over Oahu, all [military] branches and some were mailed in, the goal [being] one boot for each person."

The idea for such a run came to Johnson, as in many cases, through personal experiences. A childhood friend of her son was killed while on deployment. Keeping the family of the fallen in mind and, as her own son prepared for his deployment, Johnson thought, "Everyone in Hawaii runs, so we wanted to do a run that is very unique.

"I didn't want to honor just Tim (family friend). If you honor one, you honor them all, and that is where the idea started. I am so proud of the community that reached out to help us. Hundreds of people made this happen," Johnson said.

With determination and help of families who went through the loss of loved ones, the first run was organized in 2012.

"We thought we will get these boots out here and bring back the names and faces, because it's been so long since we've been at war, it [became] just another number," said Johnson.

"We have spouses, moms and dads [who went through a loss], so you can't help but to know that behind that boot there is a picture that has a family."

According to Johnson, the run also helps raise awareness for Fisher Houses across the military bases.

"We wanted to raise awareness for Fisher Houses and let families know that we're here, who we serve, and how we can help them," she said.

Motorcycle riders, including active duty service members, veterans and family members, opened the run with, patriot guard style escort and later greeted, motivated and handed out bottles of water to each runner as they were nearing the finishing line.

One of the riders was U.S. Army Sgt. 1st Class Matthew Athley, who went through several deployments, including tours in Iraq and Afghanistan, and suffered a loss of one of his best friends, Army Spc. Dennis Samson Jr., who lost his life in 2006 during Operation Iraqi Freedom.

"We came out to show support to the families of the fallen and in remembrance of those who gave an ultimate sacrifice—their lives—for their country and for the brothers to their left and their right," said Athley, as he adjusted a flag on a boot with his friend's photo.

"It is nice to see that there are so many people that still care about what we are doing today in the military."

Among several military units that participated in the event, chief petty officer selects, graduates of the 2014 Battleship Missouri Memorial CPO Legacy Academy, and their mentors ran in formations in remembrance of their fellow Sailors.

"Running this event for the first time and doing it with my fellow selectees is really an amazing experience," said Chief (select) Cryptologic Technician (Interpretive) Aneulena Candelaria. "With all the boots out here, instead of just a number, we see the names and the photos of all the people who gave their lives for our freedom."

Running in formation, Candelaria did not have a chance to stop and look for a boot representing Cryptologic Technician (Collection) 1st Class Michael Strange, who died in a helicopter crash on Aug. 6, 2011 in Afghanistan she was hoping to locate it later among thousands of others.

Upon completion of the run, the boots were collected and lined up in rows on the runway field for everyone in attendance, and for the visitors to the island, to pay their respects and commemorate the fallen.

"The first year, you spend a lot of time 'choked up' but, as the years have passed, those tears of sadness have become tears of pride," said Johnson. "It is so amazing to have people stop, take a picture, talk and share their story."

The Tripler Fisher House is located behind the Tripler Army Medical Center. A Fisher House is "a home away from home" for veterans and military families of patients receiving treatment at military medical centers.

Pearl Harbor Futbol Club tightens grip on first place

The Pearl Harbor Futbol Club (PHFC) continues to pull away from the pack after beating USS Chung-Hoon (DDG 93), 7-1, on Sept. 6 in a Summer Soccer League matchup at Quick Field, Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam.

The win raised defending champion Pearl Harbor's league-leading record to a near spotless 7-0-1 while Chung-Hoon, after starting off with a 3-0-2 mark, has now dropped their third game in a row and have fallen off the league's top four.

Against Chung-Hoon, Pearl Harbor scored early and often with Joe Grogan, Department of Defense civilian, putting away three in the first half to take a 5-0 lead at intermission.

Grogan got things started right away by booting in a shot from the left side of the box for a quick 1-0 lead.

The goal came on a laser shot past the goalkeeper after Grogan managed to maneuver past five defenders to get free for the kick.

"I just kept my head up," said Grogan about his first goal of the game. "There's a lot of good movement off the ball that keeps people off you. There are guys running around everywhere, so it keeps them honest back there."

Moments after Grogan put PHFC ahead, teammate Lawrence Chun, DoD civilian, doubled the lead on a long shot from near mid-field that sneaked past the goalkeeper to make it 2-0.

The early scores opened up a feeding frenzy for Pearl Harbor in the closing minutes of the first half.

After the shot by Chun, Grogan added another goal before finishing off his day with his third and final score of the game.

Grogan's second and third goals surrounded a scoring shot from teammate Pfc. Daniel Akaji.

In the second half, Chung-Hoon got their only goal of the game shortly after the break on a shot by Gas Turbine System (Mechanical) 1st Ismaila Lanase to make it 5-1.

However, Pearl Harbor finished off Chung-Hoon with two goals, the last coming off the foot of Akaji for his second goal of the game.

The loss ended a tough day for Chung-Hoon, which had to play back-to-back games in the scorching weather.

After losing their first game of the season on the previous Saturday, Chung-Hoon got beaten by the 647th Security Forces Squadron, 5-0, before having to take the field 10 minutes later to face Pearl Harbor.

"It's hard for them to play back-to-back games—especially in the heat out here," Grogan pointed out. "We always come out with good tempo. We like to move the ball and make people work for it. So it kind of works to our favor."

While Pearl Harbor has gotten out to a comfortable lead in the league, Grogan said that even with the number one seed all but locked up, there is still something to play for every weekend.

"Every week, we get to know each other a little better," said Grogan, who is playing in his first season with PHFC. "We got a lot of new faces out here, so we like to get out and do the right thing. Move the ball around, try to see the goal, play within ourselves, and get to know how the people like to play."

Pearl Harbor team captain Moussa Niang agreed with Grogan and added that no matter how far up in the standings the team gets, there is always room to get better.

"The guys are coming on the field and they're getting to know each other," he said. "At the beginning of the season, they didn't show it, but now there is chemistry."

With the regular season well in hand, Niang said that overconfidence may be a stumbling block, but after being surprised once before he doesn't think it will be a factor.

"We are looking at the playoffs, but we're taking it one game at a time," he said. "In 2012, we got surprised, but this year we're trying not to get surprised anymore. We're just going to play to win. That's the key."

Ready Navy issues zombie challenge to create comic, video

Commander Navy
Installations Command

For the third year, Ready Navy has issued a zombie challenge to the kids of Navy and Marine Corps families. This year's challenge is to create a comic strip or, for those wanting a bigger challenge, to create a short YouTube-type video.

"Kids ask questions. They think about and often worry about what they should do in an emergency," said Jeff Sanford, N37 emergency management.

"The yearly challenges provide an opportunity for these kids to talk with their parents about hazards Navy families face and unleash their creative brains to prepare for a zombie apocalypse that will ultimately prepare them for any hazard," Sanford explained.

To accept the 2014 Zombie Challenge kids are asked to:

- Create a comic strip showing how they would be ready if a zombie apocalypse happens. Entry forms are available on the Ready Navy website and should be e-mailed to ready.navy@navy.mil no later than Oct. 31.

- Comic strips must show how they would be informed about the zombies, where they would go, what they would do, and what they would take.

For those wanting a bigger challenge, kids are asked to create a video of their comic strip or other zombie preparedness plans.

Winning entries will be highlighted on the Ready Navy website, Facebook, Twitter and YouTube (if video entry).

tion, contest rules and a printable zombie challenge entry form, go to https://www.ready.navy.mil/ready_navy_kids/rnkidscontest.html.

Warriors shut out Bushmasters in season opening game

Sports Editor, Ho'okele

The 735th Air Mobility Command (735 AMC) Warriors paired a tough defense with two touchdown tosses from quarterback Tech. Sgt. Marco Knight to defeat 25th Air Support Operation Squadron (25 ASOS) Bushmasters, 12-0, on Sept. 9 in a Red Division opening season intramural flag football game at Ward Field, Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam.

Knight hit 1st Sgt. Blane Woodard in the first half for one touchdown and then found Sgt. Joe Rucker late in the second half with the game clincher for the Warriors first win of the season.

"Lessons learned. We got a lot to work on, but overall it was a good defensive effort," Knight said about the win. "Our offense just needs to get a couple things cleaned up, and I think we'll be on our way to a good season."

A tough defensive stand by the Warriors handed the ball to Knight and the offense in good field position at the Bushmasters' 28-yard line for the team's first possession.

After completing one pass to put the ball on the 22, Knight found Woodard with a swing pass to the right sideline.

Woodard made the catch and took it to the house for an early 6-0 advantage.

"They (Bushmasters) had soft coverage," Knight said. "When he (Woodard) released of the line, they just kind of let him go. I saw him come open, it was like the gates opened right up, and the ball was right there."

After the teams traded the ball on downs, the Bushmasters got possession just before halftime and threatened to score.

Starting at their own 38, Bushmasters quarterback Capt. Christopher Curtis moved the team deep into Warriors' territory, only to see the drive stall at the 10-yard line.

"That was extremely disappointing," Curtis admitted. "I think that put extra pressure on our defense as well. Just not having any momentum at any point of the game is hard to generate a spark. We needed that score. We needed a big play but just couldn't find it tonight."

Both offenses stalled coming out of the break, but on the Warriors' next possession, the team got a big boost when Knight connected with Woodard for a play that covered 29 yards and put the ball on the Bushmasters' 20.

Back-to-back completions by Knight set the team up at the Bushmasters' three before Knight delivered a short toss to Rucker for six and the final score of 12-0.

"I think our defense is solid," Knight said after his team secured the two-score lead. "As soon as I saw we had that goose egg, I said, 'All right, this is it.'"

Following the game, Curtis complimented the Warriors defense for its coverage but added that the Bushmasters were their own worst enemies.

"We only got to practice one time," Curtis explained. "These guys (Warriors) were running the zone and they were pretty effective with it, but we just didn't connect on easy things. Honestly, the passing game was there. We just weren't connecting. We just got to tighten it up."

Although this was the first matchup for both teams, Knight said that he is very encouraged about the way things turned out in the season opener.

Getting the first win out of the way this early in the season may be a good omen for things to come, he noted.

"We've been struggling the past couple of years, so the playoffs are definitely a must," he said. "We'd like to bring home the trophy, but we'll see how it goes."

Hickam Thrift Shop features new upgrade

Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam Public Affairs

The Hickam Thrift Shop at Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam has improved customer service and convenience with a new upgrade.

Previously they only accepted cash and checks for purchases, but with the new system, customers are able to check out much faster.

"The biggest change was we've added a credit/debit card system to the shop so the customers can use credit cards for the first time," said Becky Adams, the thrift shop manager. "They've never had that before and it's been a huge success. The customers really, really love it, so it's working out great."

Customers used to only be able to pay with check or cash and would sometimes have to leave to go get cash, or hold up the line by writing a check.

Sharon Work, Hickam Officers Spouses Club Thrift Shop coordinator, said they expect sales to increase by 25 percent with the new system. "We can now give customer service to more customers and expedite the line," she said.

Adams is always looking for volunteers, and donations are always welcome and needed. This year they raised $84,000 toward scholarships and grants.

The thrift shop is open on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays as well as the second Saturday of every month from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. They are closed on all federal and state holidays. Also, during inclement weather watches and warnings, call ahead.

For more information on volunteering, call Adams at 449-6603, go to their Facebook page, their website <http://hickamthriftshop.com>, email hickamthriftshop@aol.com, or just walk in.

Weather Squadron rallies back to beat Pac Nasty

Sports Editor, Ho'okele

The 17th Operational Weather Squadron (17 OWS) fell behind two times against Naval Submarine Training Center Pacific Pac Nasty but rallied each time to earn a tough 26-14 victory on Sept. 9 in a season-opening Red Division intramural flag football game at Ward Field, Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam.

Utilizing a no-rush, zone defense, the 17 OWS befuddled Pac Nasty quarterback Chief Fire Controlman Derek Down throughout the contest and forced the signal caller into throwing four interceptions—two each by Senior Airman Joe Flores and Aerographer's Mate 1st Class Rodney Bruno.

Meanwhile, 17 OWS quarterback Senior Airman Joshua Burke rushed for two touchdowns and threw for another to spark the team's offense for the win.

"How we set it up was that we were playing a zone defense," Bruno explained about the team's tight coverage. "We let the front guys loosen it up and we gave them (Pac Nasty) that cushion. That released their men to run their wide outs, and that's pretty much how each of our safeties came up with their pick."

At first, the defensive strategy seemed to backfire as Down took Pac Nasty from 38 yards out to the game's first score on only two plays.

Senior Airman Joshua Burke, quarterback for 17th Operational Weather Squadron (17 OWS), looks downfield before throwing a pass against Naval Submarine Training Center Pacific Pac Nasty.

Down rushed for 13 yards on the first play from scrimmage and then picked up Electronics Technician 1st Class Bryce Patterson all alone in the end zone for 25 yards and a touchdown.

Pac Nasty converted their point-after attempt to take an early 7-0 lead. On the next drive, the 17 OWS turned the ball over when Burke was picked off by Machinist's Mate 1st Class Jermaine Childs, but instead of capitalizing on the turnover, Down returned the favor by tossing the ball into the hands of Bruno for an interception.

Five plays later, facing fourth down and goal from the six, Burke scored the first of his two rushing touchdowns to tie the score. In the second half, Bruno came up big once again as the 17 OWS safety stopped Pac Nasty's opening drive with his second pick of the game.

The interception set up

touchdowns to tie the score. In the second half, Bruno came up big once again as the 17 OWS safety stopped Pac Nasty's opening drive with his second pick of the game.

The interception set up

Burke's second rushing touchdown, which came on a scramble from 30 yards out and a 13-7 advantage.

With their backs up against the wall, Pac Nasty stormed back after falling behind for the first time in the game.

Down drove the team 44 yards on six plays before connecting on his second touchdown pass of the game.

The Pac Nasty QB then found Childs in the corner of the end zone for the point after touchdown to take a 14-13 lead.

However, back came the 17 OWS as Burke calmly drove the team 65 yards on 11 plays for the go-ahead score.

On the drive, Burke converted two fourth down attempts to keep the chains moving forward before hooking up with Senior Airman Matthew Lisiak for eight yards and a touchdown.

Later, Bruno took over as signal caller and rushed 20 yards for the final touchdown before time expired.

In defeat, Down handed it to the 17 OWS, but also complimented his teammates for leaving everything on the field.

"Being a short command, we get a lot of new people," Down said. "We had a lot of people playing different zones. Once we get practice, we'll definitely fine-tune it up, and this will be the only loss for Pac Nasty this year."

As for the 17 OWS, Bruno said that the team has only one goal.

"We're going for the win," he said.

JEMS holds its annual job fair at joint base

Brandon Bosworth

Assistant Editor, Ho'okele

The Joint Employment Management System (JEMS) held its annual job fair Sept. 10 at Club Pearl, Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam. Recruiters from local businesses, mainland companies and government agencies were on hand recruiting to fill job vacancies ranging from entry level to highly technical and professional positions.

"About 90 companies are here at the job fair this year," said Susan Hodge, JEMS director.

Fifteen of the companies had not previously been involved in the JEMS job fair, and this year marked the first time that government agencies from the state of Hawaii participated in the event.

In 2013, employers at the JEMS job fair collected about 350 resumes. However, Hodge believes handing out resumes is only one benefit the job fair offers to those seeking employment.

"It's an opportunity to network," she said. "People can chat with employers and make a good impression and then follow up later."

JEMS is a family readiness initiative funded by Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam to help active duty, retirees and family members find employment.

JEMS acts an advocate for job seekers from the military community and serves as a central point of contact for businesses to reach these job seekers.

In addition to the annual job fair, JEMS provides services and assistance to job-seekers through their website. Registering allows individuals to search for jobs by job title, company name, geographical area, job category, work status, and add date. There is also a resume builder and skills checklist.

For more information about JEMS, visit www.jemsjobs.com.
