The Service's Legacy of Conserving Migratory Waterfowl Habitat

For more than 80 years, the Federal Duck Stamp Program and Migratory Bird Conservation Program have helped secure key habitats to sustain migratory bird populations. They protect wetlands, help dissipate storm runoff, purify water supplies, and store flood water. As we look forward to the future conservation of these critical resources, we can find inspiration in these programs' extraordinary history of success.

At the turn of the 20th century, overzealous hunters and the commercial demand for meat and feathers had decimated waterfowl populations. At the same time, periodic droughts caused wetlands and other valuable waterfowl habitat to disappear. In the late 1920s, conservationists, hunters, and government officials worked together to create the Migratory Bird Conservation Act, which Congress passed in 1929. This landmark legislation authorized the Federal government to acquire and permanently protect wetlands for waterfowl. It also created the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission—composed of Federal and State officials—to consider and approve proposals for land acquisition.

Although the Act gave the government authority to create migratory bird refuges, it did not provide a permanent source of acquisition funding. This problem was addressed in the 1930s when President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed Jay N. “Ding” Darling, a nationally known wildlife conservationist and political cartoonist, to serve as the Chief of the Bureau of Biological Survey. Darling was instrumental in the creation of a stamp, to be purchased by all waterfowl hunters, that would generate funds to pay for the acquisition of waterfowl habitat. In 1934, Congress passed the Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp Act, which required all hunters older than 16 to purchase and possess a Federal Duck Stamp while hunting waterfowl. Revenues from Duck Stamp sales are now deposited in the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund. The fund also includes import duties collected on arms and ammunition, receipts from permits for rights-of-way across refuge lands, and any appropriations from the Wetlands Loan Act, which Congress authorized in 1961 as an advance of funds against future revenues from sale of Duck Stamps.

Since 1934, the Service has spent more than $1 billion Migratory Bird Conservation Fund dollars to permanently protect more than five million acres of important waterfowl habitat—including nearly three million acres of waterfowl production areas in the U.S. Prairie Pothole Region. In 2012 alone, the Service used approximately $55.5 million in funds from the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund to purchase, lease, or protect via easement more than 13,000 acres of waterfowl habitat at migratory bird refuges and close to 50,000 acres in the Prairie Pothole Region.

Today as in the past, the Federal Duck Stamp Program and Migratory Bird Conservation Program depend on the support of people who understand and connect with our natural world—people who understand the importance of our wildlife resources and take action. What can you do? Buy a Federal Duck Stamp. Tell people how important Federal Duck Stamps are to ensuring healthy populations of all migratory birds and other wildlife. # The Migratory Bird Conservation Commission

Section 2 of the Migratory Bird Conservation Act of 1929 established the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission. It reads as follows:

Section 2, as amended. A Commission to be known as the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission, consisting of the Secretary of the Interior, as Chairman; the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency; the Secretary of Agriculture; two Members of the Senate, to be selected by the President of the Senate; and two Members of the House of Representatives, to be selected by the Speaker, is created and authorized to consider and pass upon any area of land, water, or land and water that may be recommended by the Secretary of the Interior for purchase or rental under this Act, and to fix the price or prices at which such area may be purchased or rented; and no purchase or rental shall be made of any such area until it has been duly approved for purchase or rental by said Commission.

Any Member of the House of Representatives, who is a member of Congress, if reelected to the succeeding Congress, may serve on the Commission notwithstanding the expiration of a Congress. Any vacancy on the Commission shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment. The ranking officer of the branch or department of a State to which is committed the administration of its game laws, or his authorized representative, shall be a member ex officio of said Commission for the purpose of considering and voting on all questions relating to the acquisition, under said sections, of areas in his State. For purposes of said sections, the purchase or rental of any area of land, water, or land and water includes the purchase or rental of any interest in any such area of land, water, or land and water.

Additional Act

In 1989, the Commission acquired the additional responsibility of approving project funding under the North American Wetlands Conservation Act. This Act provides Federal funding to encourage partnerships to protect, enhance, restore, and manage wetlands and other habitats for migratory birds and other fish and wildlife. The North American Wetlands Conservation Council, which was created by the legislation, submits project recommendations to the Commission for funding approval.

The Migratory Bird Conservation Fund

The Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp Act of March 18, 1934 (Duck Stamp Act) created the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund (MBCF) to provide the Department of the Interior with monies to acquire migratory bird habitat.

There are three major sources of funds deposited into the MBCF account. The most well-known source is the revenue received from the sale of Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamps, commonly known as Duck Stamps, as provided for under the Duck Stamp Act. The other two major sources include appropriations authorized by the Wetlands Loan Act of October 4, 1961, as amended, and import duties collected on arms and ammunition, as provided for under the Emergency Wetlands Resources Act of 1986.

The MBCF finances two Service land acquisition programs which are administered by the Division of Realty. The first program acquires waterfowl habitat in major migratory bird conservation areas under the authority of the Migratory Bird Conservation Act of 1929. The second program acquires small natural wetlands, grasslands, and interests, known as Waterfowl Production Areas, under the authority of the Duck Stamp Act. Waterfowl Production Areas are located primarily in the Prairie Pothole Region of the upper Midwest of the United States.

A total of $55,500,550 was available for obligation from the MBCF during fiscal year 2012. Disbursements for all MBCF land acquisition functions during the fiscal year totaled $59,108,041, which included $3,607,491 in disbursements from prior year obligations. The disbursement total includes $24,078,530 for the acquisition of land and interests in land totaling 13,474 acres at major migratory bird conservation areas, and $33,255,788 for land and interests in land totaling 48,922 acres at Waterfowl Production Areas. Printing expenses for the Federal Duck Stamp and other support costs make up the remaining $1,773,723.

Boundary Addition Approval

Chickasaw National Wildlife Refuge

Lauderdale County, Tennessee

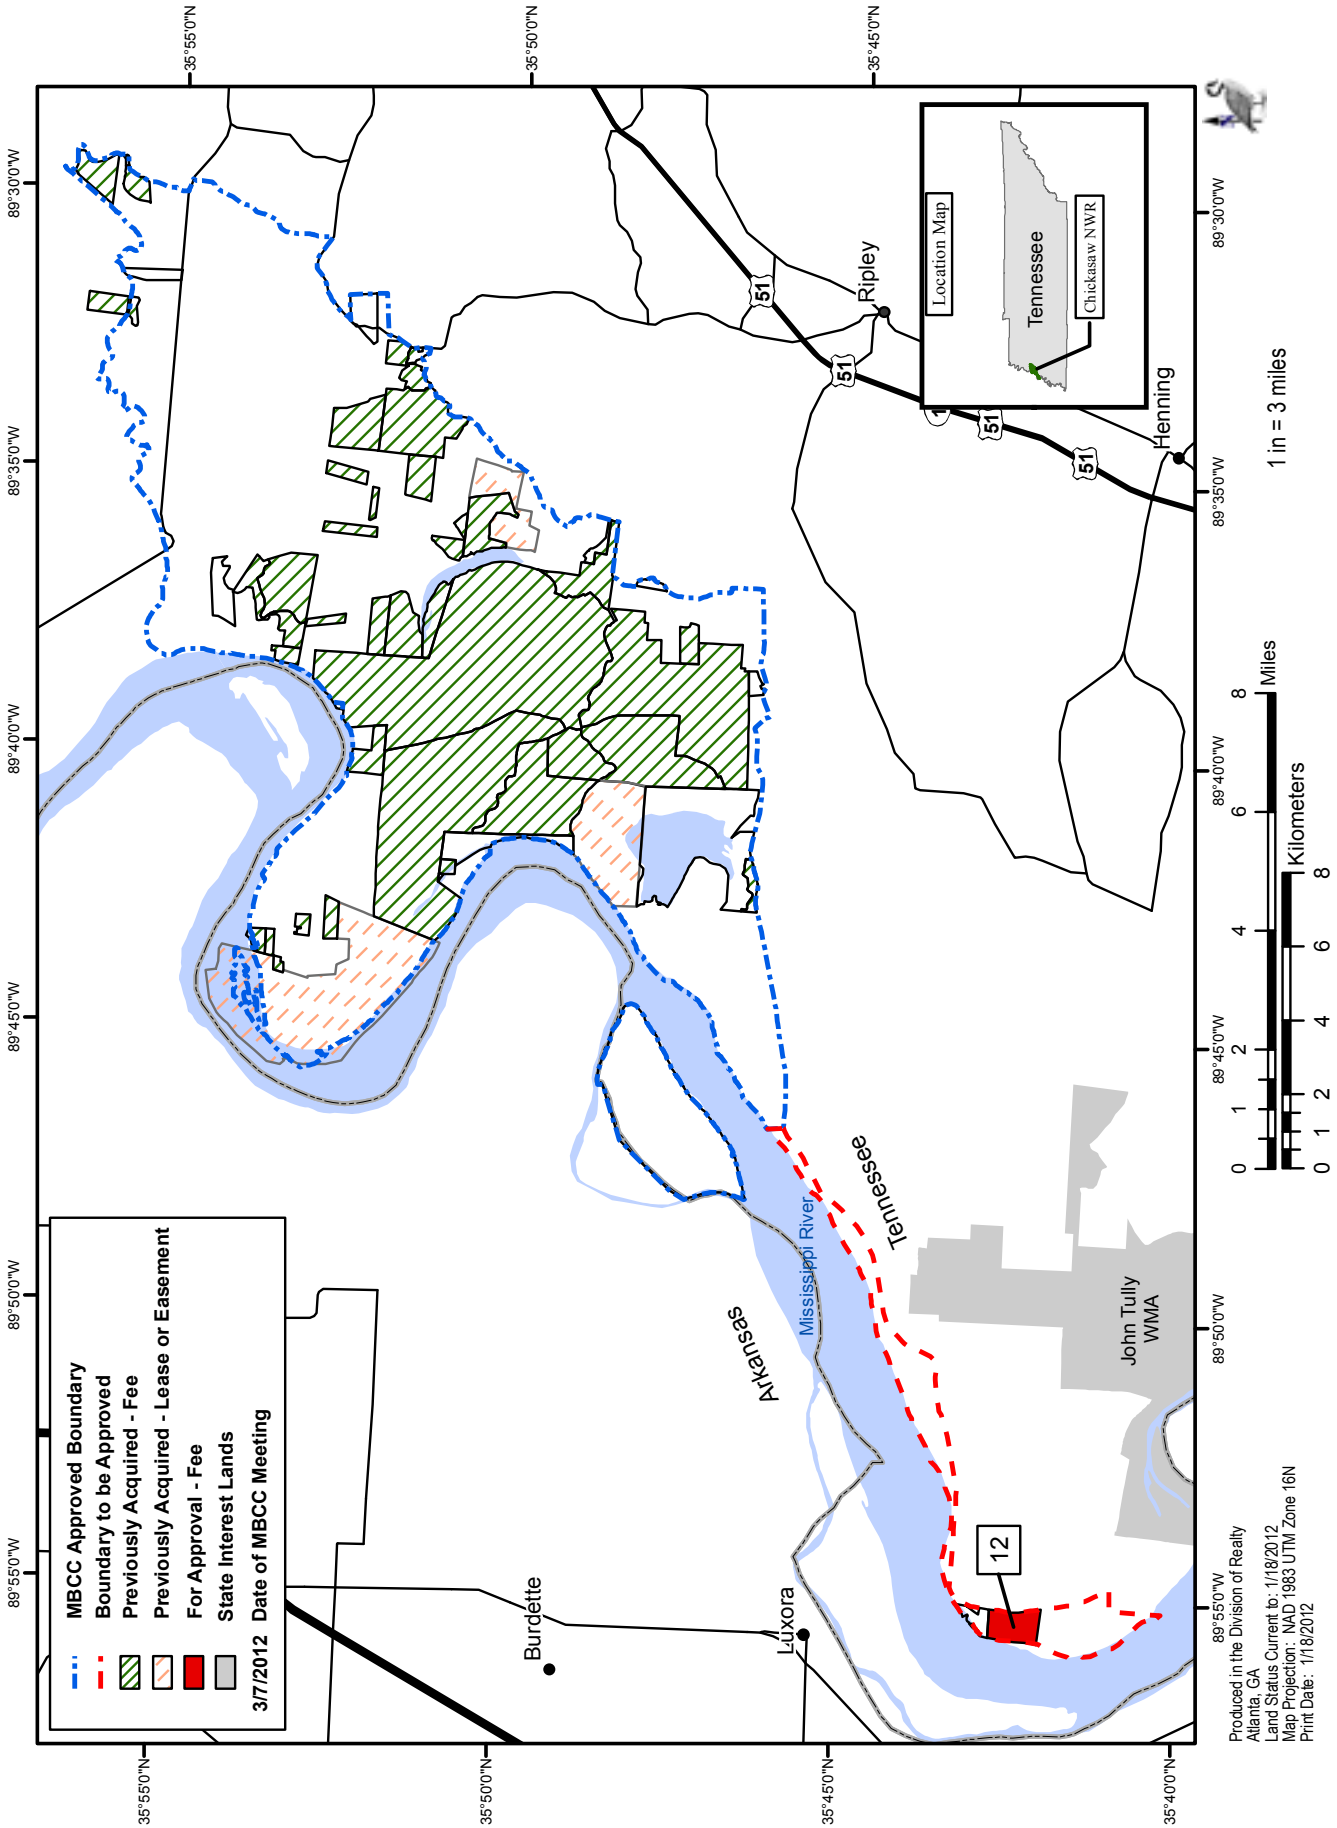

On March 7, 2012, the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission granted boundary approval for 2,552 acres at Chickasaw National Wildlife Refuge, and price approval for the fee title acquisition of 357 acres.

Chickasaw NWR is 45 miles north of Memphis, Tennessee, in the Mississippi Alluvial Valley. It is a key conservation area for a variety of migratory birds. Among them, the waterfowl species that most benefit are wood duck, mallard, gadwall, American wigeon, green-and blue-winged teal, and mottled duck.

The boundary addition and tract approved for acquisition lie along the Mississippi River and extend south, creating a narrow wildlife corridor between Chickasaw NWR and Lower Hatchie NWR. The corridor also includes the State's John M. Tully Wildlife Management Area and Fort Pillow State Park. The Service plans to manage the fee tract for compatible wildlife-dependent recreation such as hunting, wildlife observation, and environmental education.

Boundary Addition Approval Chickasaw National Wildlife Refuge

Boundary Addition Approval

Red Rock Lakes National Wildlife Refuge

Beaverhead County, Montana

On September 12, 2012, the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission granted boundary approval for 12,352 acres at Red Rock Lakes National Wildlife Refuge, and price approval for the fee title acquisition of 810 acres and the lease of 5,834 acres.

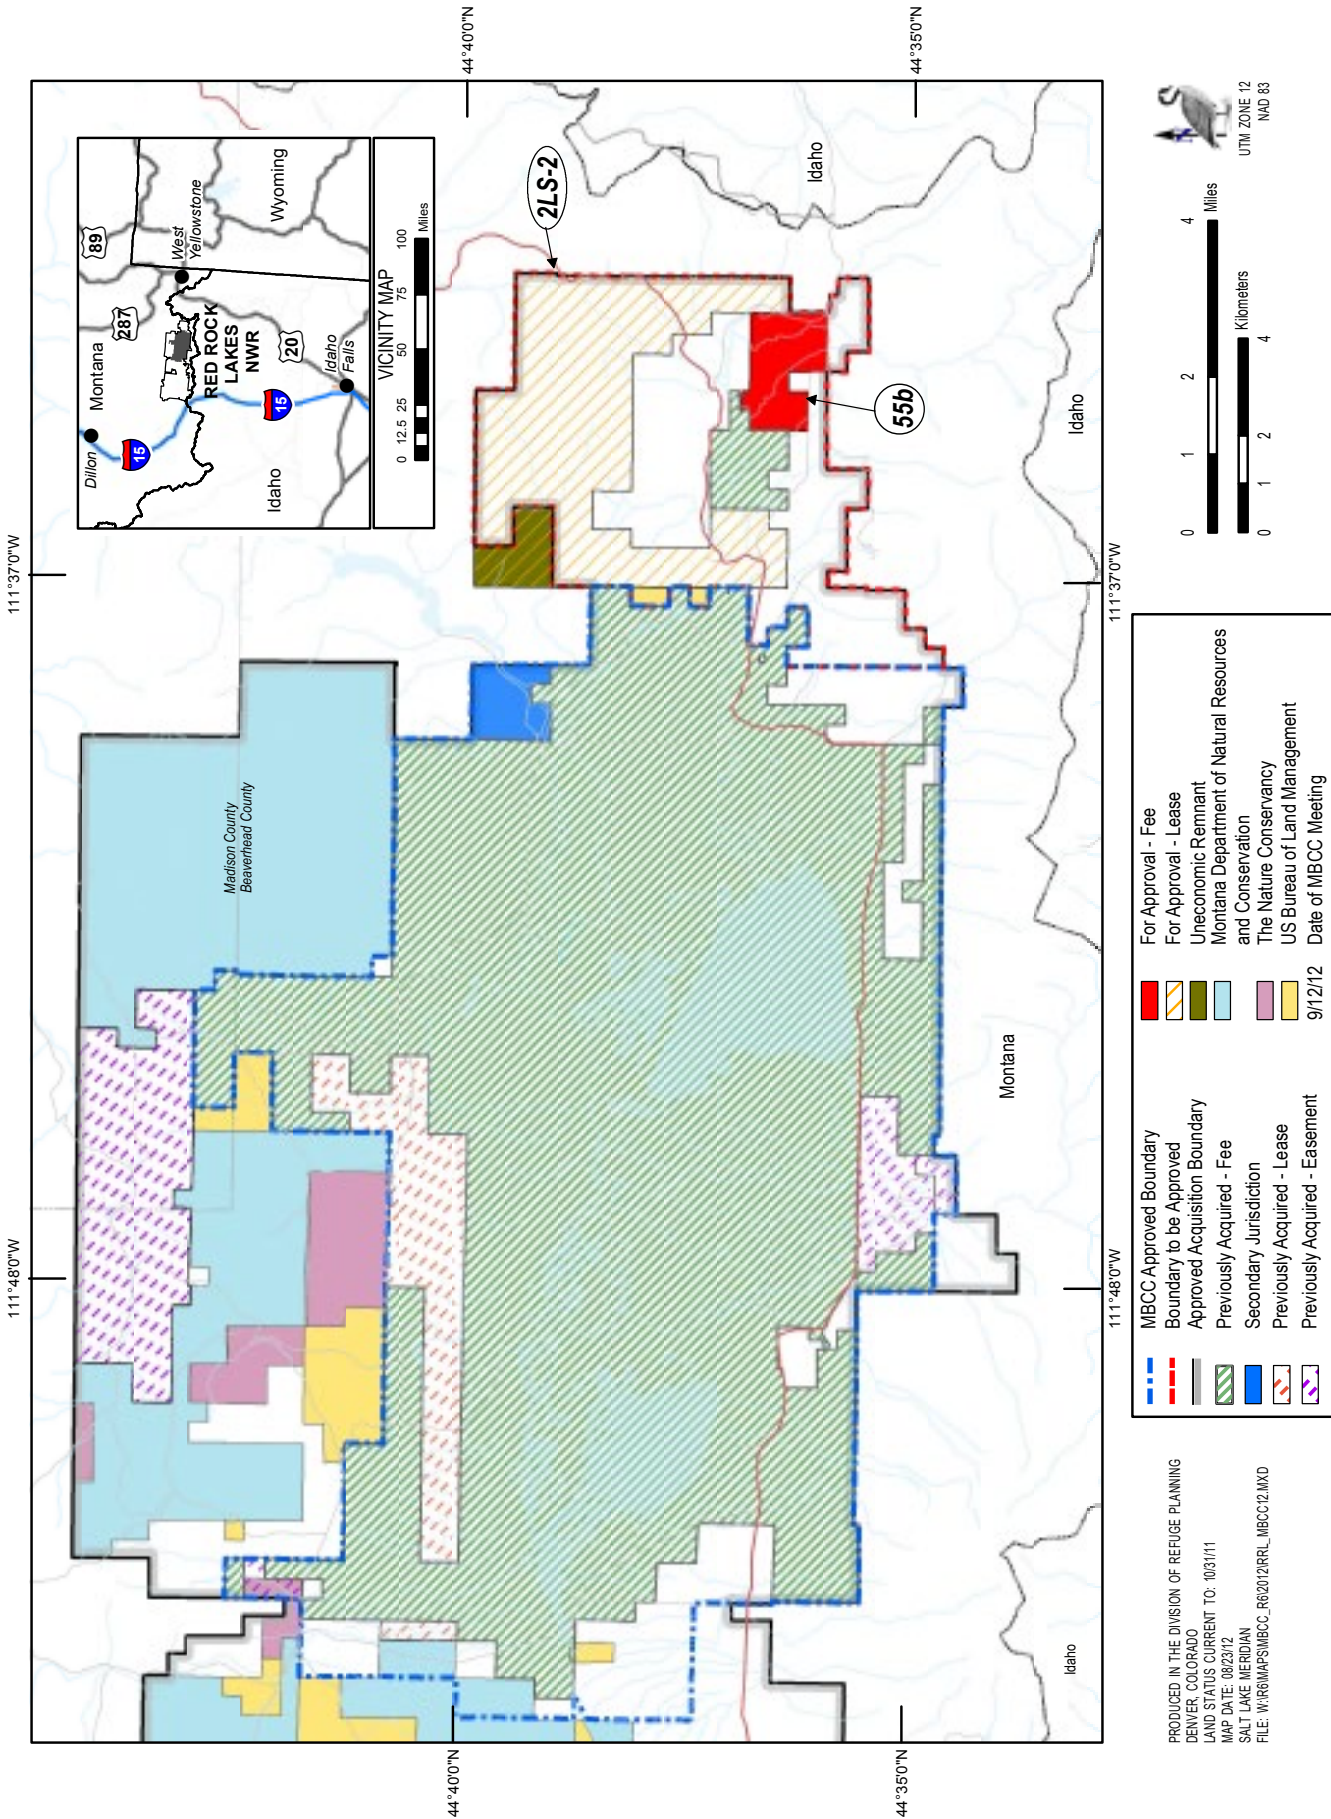

Red Rock Lakes NWR is located approximately 60 miles southeast of Dillon, Montana. The Lower Red Rock Lake area of the Refuge supports one of the highest densities of breeding lesser scaup on the continent. The Refuge and Centennial Valley support the highest density of breeding trumpeter swans in the tri-state flock (Idaho, Montana, Wyoming). Swans in the Refuge and Centennial Valley produce more cygnets than any other single area in the western United States.

The approved acquisition includes very important water rights that will help ensure future water supplies for the existing Red Rock Lakes wetland complex. The Service plans to manage the fee tract for compatible wildlife-dependent recreation.

Boundary Addition Approval Red Rock Lakes National Wildlife Refuge

Boundary Addition Approval

San Bernard National Wildlife Refuge

Brazoria County, Texas

On September 12, 2012, the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission granted boundary and price approval for the fee title acquisition of 1,441 acres at the Austin's Woods Unit of the San Bernard National Wildlife Refuge.

The Austin's Woods Unit is located 50 miles south of Houston, Texas. It is a productive and valuable wetland complex that provides habitat for migrating, wintering, and resident waterfowl, wading birds, neo-tropical migratory birds, and other wetland-dependent wildlife species. Thousands of waterfowl winter in the area, including mottled ducks, mallards, northern pintails, gadwalls, widgeons, northern shovelers, blue- and green-winged teal, black-bellied whistling ducks, and ruddy ducks.

The acquired tract abuts the Brazos River for several miles and contains a mix of fresh water marsh, wetland forest, and grasslands. The Service will manage the land as habitat for waterfowl, wading birds, neo-tropical migrants, and other wildlife, as well as for compatible public use such as hunting, fishing, bird watching, photography, and canoeing.

Boundary Addition Approval

Trinity River National Wildlife Refuge

Liberty County, Texas

During Fiscal Year 2012, the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission granted boundary and price approval for the fee title acquisition of 287.5 acres at Trinity River National Wildlife Refuge. This included Commission boundary and price approvals of 87.5 acres in June, and 200 acres in September.

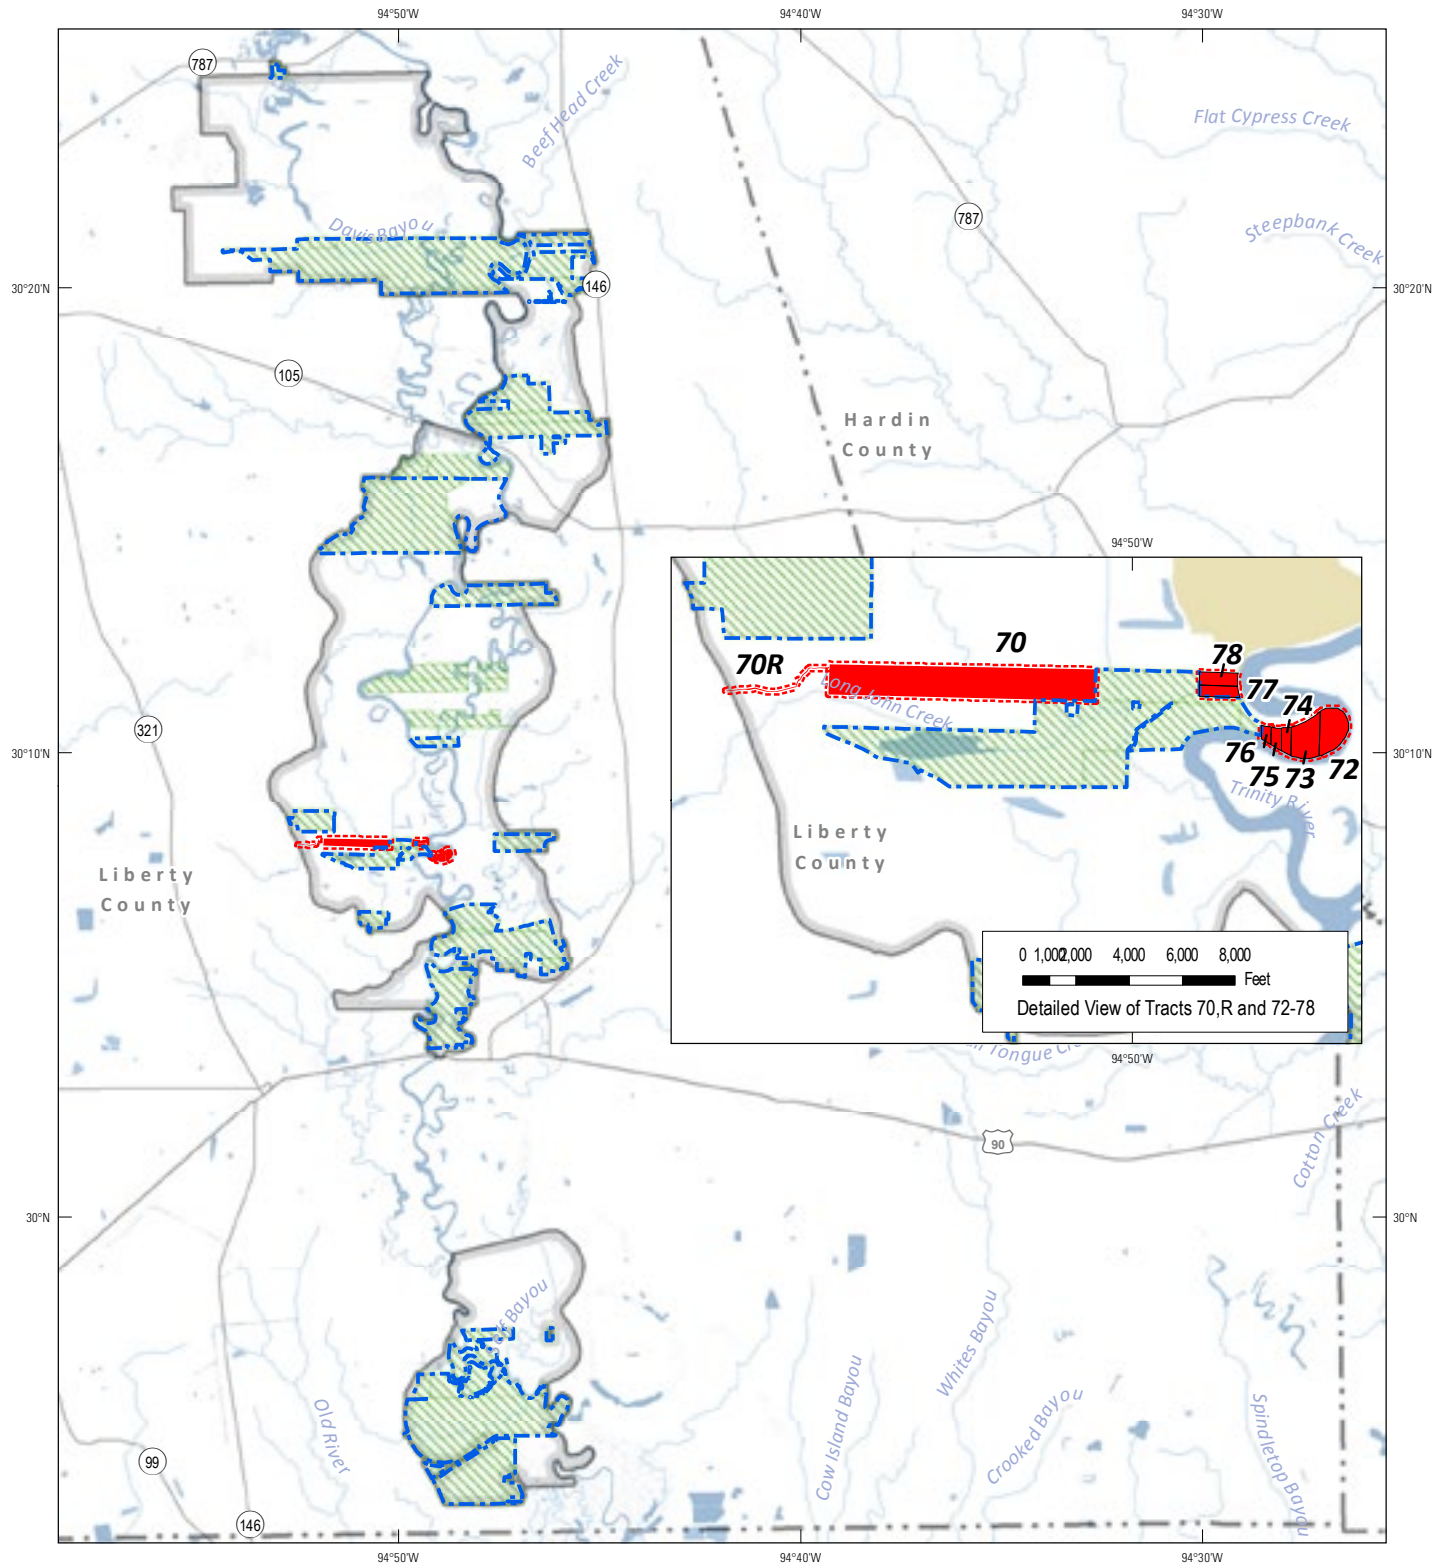

Trinity River NWR is located 45 miles northeast of Houston in Liberty County, Texas. The Refuge protects important remnant bottomland hardwood and associated habitats for migrating, wintering, and breeding waterfowl, including wood duck, mallard, gadwall, American widgeon, green- and blue-winged teal, and mottled duck. Mature cavity trees provide important nesting habitat for wood ducks and black-bellied whistling ducks.

The 287.5 acres approved for acquisition contain flood-prone bottomland hardwood habitat. The Service will manage the tracts to protect important waterfowl habitat in the Trinity River floodplain. The Service will also offer compatible public use such as hunting, wildlife observation, environmental education, and interpretation.

Rocky Mountain Arsenal National Wildlife Refuge

Adams County and the City and County of Denver, Colorado

At its June 6, 2012, meeting, the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission approved the disposal of a 35-acre easement on an abandoned water canal at Rocky Mountain Arsenal National Wildlife Refuge. The abandoned portion is the Derby lateral of the High Line Canal, which, in the past, transported non-potable water to the Refuge. The canal is entirely man-made, so the Commission's action did not dispose of a natural waterway.

Rocky Mountain Arsenal NWR is in the northeast portion of the Denver metropolitan area. It lies within and adjacent to the cities of Denver and Montbello. Years of drought triggered major reductions in water deliveries to the Refuge through the Derby lateral. By the Spring of 2004, such deliveries were no longer feasible, and soon after, the Refuge entered into a non-potable water lease agreement through which it receives recycled water from Denver. That lease agreement ended the Refuge's need for the Derby lateral.

By disposing of its easement interest in the Derby lateral, the Service allows the three fee owners to widen a road, and improve storm drains. The Refuge Administration Act (16 U.S.C. 668dd (a)(5)) allows the sale of refuge lands with the approval of the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission. The Act requires that surplus refuge property be sold for not less than appraised fair market value. It also requires that aggregate proceeds from the sale go into the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund.

National Migratory Bird Refuges & Waterfowl Production Areas

The information contained in this report includes those acquisitions and dispositions of land and interests therein that are purchased with Migratory Bird Conservation Fund monies or acquired under the authority of the Migratory Bird Conservation Act. It also includes other migratory bird areas such as those that are transferred to the Fish and Wildlife Service under the authority of Public Law 80-537 to carry out a migratory bird management program.

Notes on Tables 1 and 2

In an ongoing effort to improve data quality, the figures in Tables 1 and 2 may show minor changes from previous annual reports. Lands in which the Service previously acquired a less-than-fee interest (leases and easements) may be purchased in fee during the year, and the number of easement or lease acres will show a decrease, and the number of purchased acres will show an increase. The acreage appearing in the Approvals section of this report will not appear in Tables 1 or 2 until after the Service acquires the tracts and expends the funds. Also, a newly approved refuge will not appear on Table 1 until the Service acquires the tract(s).

For information on all lands and interests under U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service control, refer to the Annual Report of Lands Under Control of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. This report is available from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Division of Realty at <www.fws.gov/refuges/realty>, or by calling 703/358 1713.

FSA - Farm Service Agency (Formerly Farmers Home Administration, Department of Agriculture)

Negative numbers in the Fiscal Year MBCF Acquisition acreage totals reflect acres disposed through land-for-land exchanges, where the Service exchanged previously acquired WPA lands for other lands to consolidate land holdings, improve land management efficiency, and eliminate confusion for the visiting public.

North American Wetlands Conservation Fund (NAWCF)

Summary of MBCC Approvals for Fiscal Year 2012

The Migratory Bird Conservation Commission approved 61 standard wetland conservation project proposals for funding in Fiscal Year 2012 under the North American Wetlands Conservation Act. A total of $67,656,984 from the North American Wetlands Conservation Fund, together with $153,446,733 in partner funds, are supporting 44 projects in the United States, 8 in Canada, and 9 in Mexico. The following tables provide summary and detailed project information.
