

Read Across America in Celebration of Dr. Seuss Birthday

Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District sponsored this celebration on March 1, 2013, at Morris Elementary School in Huntsville. Chief Deputy Steve Morrison and Diane Mills from the local Sheriff's office joined DAC, Kathy Walker in this fun presentation.

Three Dr. Seuss books were read complete with fun hats and puppets. The students really got into the story as "Oh, The Places You Will Go" was read. When the portion of the story was read, "with brains in your head and shoes on your feet, you can go places"...the students would chant, "I have brains and I have shoes" as the stress ball and tiny pair of shoes were held up for the students. The book, "Go Dog Go" had many hat changes and the book "Hunches in Bunches" kept the students laughing as the boy in the story had trouble making up his mind what he really wanted to do.

With brains in my head and shoes on my feet, I can go anywhere! Dr. Seuss
