Guiding Philosophies

- All persons have the right to live without fear, abuse, or oppression.
- Working together, shelters, affiliated programs, and concerned individuals can change social attitudes about, and the response to, relationship violence and sexual assault.
- Abusive individuals must legally and morally be held accountable for their actions.
- Belief in the empowerment of all people and promotion of respect for one's self and others.

Your financial contribution can make an enormous difference in the lives of families affected by violence.

If you have an interest in helping us end the violence in our community, please call our Volunteer Services Coordinator at 940-387-5131 www.dcfof.org
