

Sigma Tau Delta English Honor Society Presents

Literature as Musical Impetus: A Composer's Perspective

Come hear UNT Composition Division Chair Dr. Joseph Klein discuss his interest in literature as a composer, and his various approaches to written and spoken text—including vocal settings, instrumental renderings, theatrical interpretations, and intermedia performances. Writers of influence include: Franz Kafka, Christina Rossetti, W. S. Merwin, Elias Canetti, and Alice Fulton. This event is open to the public, and welcomes students with interests in music and/or literature, and especially those fascinated by the synthesis of different artistic disciplines.

February 20th 5:00 PM

Merrill Ellis Intermedia Theater
Music Building (MUI001)