Willis Library, Room 136

Start at our homepage, library.unt.edu

The screenshot shows the homepage of the University Libraries at UNT. The header is dark green with the UNT logo on the left and the text "University Libraries" in the center. On the right side of the header are icons for a bookmark, a building, a computer monitor, and a magnifying glass. Below the header is a dark navigation bar with links for HOME, ABOUT, RESEARCH, SERVICES, SPACES, NEWS, EVENTS, ASK US, and ACCOUNTS LOGIN. The main content area is white and divided into two columns. The left column is titled "START YOUR RESEARCH" and features a dark teal sidebar with a list of search options: Search it All, Online Articles, Books & More, Databases, e-Journals, Subject & Course Guides, This Website / FAQ, and Search Tips & Tricks. To the right of the sidebar is a search box with the text "Not Sure Where to Start?" and a subtext "Enter your search terms and we'll grab results from multiple systems. Got a DOI? Try pasting it in." Below the search box is a white input field and a green "Search" button. The right column is titled "FEATURED" and contains a carousel slide. The slide has a blue header with a yellow circular icon of a document with a magnifying glass. The main text of the slide reads "What the Libraries Can Do for You" and "This hands-on workshop will give an overview of the library services and resources useful to you as a graduate student." Below the text are social media icons for Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram.

Where to find librarian help on the homepage

Getting Started with Biology Research

Welcome to the Biology Subject Guide where you can learn about the best resources at the UNT Libraries for your biology research. I'm the biology librarian, Erin O'Toole; please feel free to contact me anytime with your questions about research and the Libraries. Start off your research by reading about the types of resources we offer below and then move on to the tabs at the top of the screen.

Reference Sources, such as encyclopedias, handbooks and dictionaries, are a good place to start your research because they provide:

- background on a topic
- historical research
- potential keywords for your catalog and database searches

Books in both print and electronic format provide:
