Call for Student Portraits Symposium Poster Proposals

The Call for Programs for Student Portraits Symposium and The University Forum on Teaching and Learning (being referred to as the UNT Joint Conference on the Student Experience) has been extended to March 21 at midnight. Poster proposals will be accepted on a rolling basis.

The University Forum on Teaching and Learning and Student Portraits Symposium have combined forces to provide two days of interactive sessions, presentations and more to support best practices in student success. The theme for the 2019 event is National Trends and What They Mean for Texas Students. This theme will allow us to explore practices that improve student success and retention through effective teaching and learning and student support services.

The conference planning committee encourages presentation proposals regarding proven practices with content that will engage participants in fruitful discussions and provide inspiration for application and practice.

Suit Up Event at JCPenney on March 31; Volunteers Needed

The Career Center is once again collaborating with the Denton and Frisco JCPenney offering students an exclusive shopping experience on March 31 (Denton JCP location will close on Sunday @ 6 p.m. and reopen for UNT from 6:30 - 9:30 p.m.; Frisco JCP Suit Up event will take place 4 - 7 p.m. during their regular store hours). JCP is offering an additional 40% off professional clothing items, many of which may already be discounted.

Volunteers also are needed to work the Denton event on March 31, from 6 - 9 p.m. Volunteers can work 1 hour, 2 hours or all 3 hours, and are needed as:

Baggers – Assist cashiers and bag purchased items.

Fashion Consultants – Move throughout the store and near the fitting rooms to assist students with choosing clothing styles that will develop and enhance the student's professional image. Clothing selection should be styles that are flattering and communicate the appropriate message - PROFESSIONALISM.

Fitting Room Monitors – Direct students to available fitting rooms. Inform students to re-hang and remove all clothing items from the fitting rooms and hang on the rack stationed outside of the fitting room. A JCP employee will return clothing items to the selling floor.

Volunteers can contact Deidre Leslie at deidre.leslie@unt.edu

EVA SCHLOSS

Eva Schloss, the 89-year-old Holocaust survivor, peace activist and international speaker, will share her memories of her step-sister Anne Frank and her powerful story of survival, grit, loss, and ultimate triumph of the human spirit. Forty years after the end of World War II, Eva began to share her story.

She now travels the globe to spread a message to others to value kindness, tolerance and our common humanity, and that respect for diversity makes a difference in bringing our communities together.

This memorable evening will leave you uplifted and inspired.

Honoring:
 SANJIV YAJNIK

Sanjiv Yajnik, President of Financial Services, Capital One, is being honored for his outstanding passion and dedication to the betterment of our communities and his unwavering commitment to helping nurture leaders of tomorrow. Yajnik leads Capital One's community activities throughout Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana as Regional President of the South-Central Region. As a passionate community leader, he sits on various nonprofit boards, serving as founder and chairman of the Collin County Business Alliance (CCBA); chairman of the nationally-acclaimed Dallas Symphony Association and treasurer of the National Academy Foundation. In November 2015, Yajnik was appointed chairman of the Economic Development Corporation by Texas Governor Greg Abbott.

UNT Traditions

Official Tartan

The university's official tartan design was created by alumna Casey Heidt ('15) when she was a College of Visual Arts and Design student, as a lasting way to show green pride during UNT's 125th anniversary celebrations and for years to come.

Heidt's innovative tartan pattern represents a double-layered map, one of campus with the Hurley Administration Building in the center, and the other of Denton with the downtown square — the location of the first classes — in the center. The thick white lines and thin black lines represent streets. In 2014, UNT's official tartan was accepted by the Scottish Register of Tartans and is featured on shirts, scarves, ties and other merchandise with local retailers. Proceeds will go to support student scholarships.

Click here for more UNT Traditions, which will be spotlighted each week.
