

Edward Ramirez

Ramirez has been a senior executive with more than 40 years of experience in the oil and gas industry.

About The Instructor

Over his distinguished career, he has directed geophysical analysis, interpretation and managed technical teams at the corporate and division level. He holds a Bachelor of Science in Physics and a Master of Science in Geophysics from the University of Miami, Florida and is fluent in Spanish and French.

Professional Background

Mr. Ramirez has experience in large and small company settings, working at Mobil Oil, Schlumberger-GECO/Prakla, Triton Energy, Toreador Resources, Buccaneer Energy and as a Court Appointed Receiver. For the last 11 years Mr. Ramirez has worked as an Independent Consultant, as Principal/Partner at International Hydrocarbon Ventures, LLC, an Oil Industry management consulting firm representing US and foreign based companies, providing the industry with technical review/interpretation of exploration and development projects, research, reviews and general industry services, which included identifying, evaluating or assisting in acquiring producing and development US based properties in the Central Midwest, Permian Basin and Texas/Louisiana Gulf Coast. A similar set of assignments were also completed in the International arena, including Canada, France, Italy, Turkey, Spain, Colombia, Brazil and Trinidad Tobago.