Footnotes

1. Data are updated quarterly. Aggregate values and fees are subject to minor changes due to charge adjustments and other periodic changes. Data will be adjusted to reflect actual values as needed.
2. The peak daylight overdraft for a given day is the greatest value reached by the sum of the daylight overdrafts for all institutions at the end of each operating minute of the day. The figures stated in the table are the average of the daily peak overdrafts over the period.
3. The average per-minute daylight overdraft for a given day is the sum of the average per-minute daylight overdrafts for all institutions on that day.
4. An institution's collateralized daylight overdraft is the amount of its per-minute overdraft covered by its pledge of collateral. The Board began collecting this data on March 24, 2011, pursuant to the changes to the Federal Reserve Policy on Payment System Risk.
5. As a result of the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks, some institutions experienced significant processing problems and difficulty funding their Federal Reserve accounts. The Federal Reserve took many steps to alleviate liquidity concerns during this time period, including waiving daylight overdraft fees for all institutions from September 11 to September 21. From September 11 to September 19, the amount of daylight overdraft fees waived totaled $1,278,419 and on September 20 and September 21, the amount of fees waived totaled $414,609.

Note 1:

Beginning with December 8, 1997, average overdrafts are calculated based on an 18-hour Fedwire operating day. Based on a 10-hour Fedwire operating day, average overdrafts are as follows:
17-Dec-97: 49,747(total), 31,319(funds), 18,428(book-entry)
31-Dec-97: 50,985(total), 32,193(funds), 18,791(book-entry)

Note 2:

Beginning with May 17, 2004, average overdrafts are calculated based on an 21.5-hour Fedwire operating day.
