Re: Your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") Appeal (89-19)
of November 13, 1989.

Dear Ms. Gordon:

This letter is in response to your FOIA appeal of November 13, 1989, which was received by the Legal Services Corporation ("LSC" or "Corporation") on November 15, 1989. Your appeal relates to the August 18, 1989, denial of access by the FOIA office of the Corporation to:

all hand written and other notes made by Darryl Loveland during her inspection of the National Clearinghouse for Legal Services ("NCLS") personnel file of Patricia Gordon.

Upon review of the matter, I have concluded that the notes may be released to you insofar as the records you seek are drawn from your own personnel file and contain only factual information copied from your personnel file. Disclosure constitutes an exercise of my discretion after inspection of the records, even though they are otherwise exempt from disclosure as personnel files and information compiled for enforcing the Act. 45 C.F.R. §1602.9(a)(5) and (6). It is important to note, however, that in a FOIA request for the same information from a third party requester, the privacy interests of the employee would be carefully protected.

Dear Mr. Leonard:

This letter is in response to your FOIA appeal of November 13, 1989, which was received by the Legal Services Corporation ("LSC" or "Corporation") on November 15, 1989. Your appeal relates to the August 18, 1989, denial of access by the FOIA office of the Corporation to:

- (1) all hand written and other notes made by Darryc Loveland during her inspection of the National Clearinghouse for Legal Services ("NCLS") personnel file of Michael Leonard.

Upon review of the matter, I have concluded that the notes may be released to you insofar as the records you seek are drawn from your own personnel file and contain only factual information copied from your own personnel file. Disclosure constitutes an exercise of my discretion after my inspection of the records, even though they are otherwise exempt from disclosure as personnel files and information compiled for enforcing the Act. 45 C.F.R. §1602.9(a)(5) and (6).
