How to Use This Index

The index to the Woodrow Wilson Papers is designed primarily as a means of ascertaining what documents exist in this collection and where they may be found on the microfilm reproduction or in the collection. Woodrow Wilson letters in other collections in the Library of Congress, or elsewhere, are not indexed in these volumes. This work is essentially a name index, listing chiefly the last name and initials of writers and recipients of letters and other documents, alphabetically first, and then chronologically, when the name appears more than once.

This is not a subject index, but some public statements and articles and most memoranda found in this collection are indexed with subject or title subheadings under the name of the writer. Speeches or public statements made by President Wilson are usually indexed under his name, with a subheading for the location at which the speech was delivered. However, those speeches made on special occasions, or to specific organizations, are indexed with a subheading giving the title of the speech or naming the occasion or the organization. Academic lectures are indexed with a subject subheading. Other subjects relating to President Wilson are also indexed as a subheading following his name. Some miscellaneous items for which no name appears are listed under a subject title.

To find a document in the Woodrow Wilson Papers note the series number, the date of the document under the main entry, and, when applicable, the case file number; then turn to the document in its sequence in the appropriate series. The physical arrangement of each series is detailed in the Description of the Papers. When citing a document include the series number, date, and case file number.

This index was produced by the use of electronic data processing equipment, which permitted a number of economies but imposed in return a few limitations. Some of the paraphernalia normally found in indexes and calendars had to be abandoned. All index entries may consist of from four to six parts or "fields", each of uniform length. Many of the peculiarities of this index are illustrated in the sample entries following this explanation, and the abbreviations list explains other usages.

The Executive Office File, Series 4, consists of numbered "case" files or subject files (lines 1 and 2 in the sample entries). Some case files are subdivided under personal names, corporate titles, or functions, with each subdivision given an alphabetical or numerical designation (lines 5, 6, and 7). The President's "Trip" File is subdivided by trip (lines 8 and 10), and Federal Patronage Files are subdivided by state (lines 12 and 13).

When the "case" file and "case" file subdivision designation is too long to insert in the "case" file field, the main "case" file number is preceded by a zero numeral and the subdivision number is placed in the Addenda column as in lines 14 and 15.

The names of "correspondents"—that is, writers of letters to President Wilson or persons addressed by him, including organizations and government agencies—are arranged alphabetically in the first field. A letter not written by or to President Wilson is indexed by both writer and recipient (lines 16 and 17).

When there are two or more writers or recipients of the same document, the document is indexed under the name of the first writer or recipient, and the phrase "et al" follows the name (line 18). Correspondence signed by a writer using the surname only is indexed under the surname followed by three dashes (line 20).

When an index entry is too long letters are dropped from the end of the last word in the field (line 21). If a monarch is a writer or a recipient, his name is followed, as a rule, by that of his country (line 23). Correspondence of outstanding personalities, whose names may vary, is indexed under the best-known name, with cross references from the variations to that of the indexed entry. Correspondence on behalf of an organization, public or private, is indexed chiefly under the name of the organization rather than under the name of the person (lines 24 and 25). Most local organizations are indexed under the geographical location (line 26), while some international, national, and state organizations are indexed under their own name, followed by a geographical location (lines 3 and 19). Except for the largest cities, the name of the town or county is followed by the abbreviated state name.

Correspondence of the President, written by or to the Secretary to the President, Joseph P. Tumulty; the Executive clerk, Rudolph Forster; Wilson's Secretary at the Paris Peace Conference, Gilbert F. Close; and his post-Presidential secretary, John Randolph Bolling is indexed under the name of the correspondent. These four officers are designated in the index mainly by their initials during their incumbency in these positions (lines 7, 9, and 29). When they correspond with the President or each other the correspondence is filed and indexed under the name of the staff officer (lines 9 and 11).

Executive office documents written by one of these officers and requiring subject subheading, however, are indexed under the name of the officer followed by a subject heading (line 30). Memoranda of other members of the President's Executive Office Staff are sometimes indexed under the abbreviation POS with a subject subheading (line 27).

President Wilson's name may be found in only two places in an index entry: at the beginning of an entry when he is the author of a document (lines 33, 34, 35, and 36), and in the subheading of an entry when he is the subject of the document (line 28); otherwise, his name is abbreviated in the second field and in the addenda field (lines 10 and 15). Correspondents who bear the same name as that of the President are indexed under the name followed by the abbreviation NP, not President (line 37). Writers who deliberately withhold their identity are indexed under the word "ANONYMOUS" with any known information on the identity recorded in the addenda field (line 4). If a document is unsigned or if the signature is illegible, the entry is indexed under the word "UNKNOWN" with such information as the manuscript provides on identity recorded in the addenda (line 31). When a writer or recipient, other than the President and another "UNKNOWN", corresponds with an "UNKNOWN" the document is indexed under the name of the known correspondent (line 32).

An asterisk preceding a name or a date indicates that the editors have supplied, wholly or in part, information not found on the document or, doubtful or estimated information (lines 6, 28, and 30).

The number of pages for an item includes every page which has any writing. A page by this definition includes envelopes, cover sheets, and pages bearing docket entries, endorsements, shorthand notations, file numbers, and similar writing. Only notations made by the Library of Congress are excluded from the page count. Two or more communications of the same type from a writer to the same recipient on the same day are indexed in one entry (line 2).

The addenda of the index has been used as a "catchall" for supplementary information. Documents other than letters are, in each instance, identified in this column by form (lines 8, 10, 13, 18, and 34). When the manuscript is for some reason not in its proper place in the normal chronological or alphabetical order on the microfilm and in the manuscript collection—for instance, an enclosure filed with its covering letter rather than under its own date—a "location reference" in the addenda gives the location of the out-of-sequence item. A "location reference" usually consists of the name of the correspondent and the date of the document immediately preceding the out-of-sequence item (lines 15 and 22). Location of letters in letterbooks are designated by volume and page number (lines 11 and 23). Communications within Paris Peace Conference documents are located by Document series and number and by date (line 21).
